

Eisenhower Hits Back At Critics As 18,000 Cheer

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Eisenhower, fighting harder now for a Republican Congress, goes before the American Federation of Labor today for a possible reply to its sharp criticism of the administration.

Eisenhower, who Thursday night peeled off the velvet campaign gloves he had been wearing and declared recapture of Congress by the Democrats would lead to "stagnation" in government, arranged to address the AFL's national convention before flying back to the summer White House in Denver.

Accused of Inaction
The big labor organization climaxed a mounting attack on the Eisenhower regime Thursday when it unanimously adopted a resolution asserting that:

"Two years of the present administration in Washington have demonstrated that the forces of reaction which that administration represents are pursuing the same philosophy of government which brought our nation to the brink of economic disaster prior to the New Deal."

The resolution accused the administration of "many crimes of omission and commission . . . and particularly (lack of action on) the promise to remove the union-busting provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act."

In his speech before a wildly cheering audience of 18,000 at a political rally in Hollywood Bowl Thursday night, Eisenhower reviewed the record of his administration during the last 20 months and said it adds up to "compelling reasons why the completion of this great program requires the election of a Republican-led Congress."

Backed By Democrats
In his prepared text the chief executive said much remains to be done during the next two years, and he cited specific legislation he wants enacted without mentioning revision of the Taft-Hartley Law.

Peaceful Use Of Atomic Power Pushed By U. S. A.

Five Pittsburgh Stores Damaged In Long Strike

By WILLIAM A. SWARTHWORTH
PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 10-month strike of 12 AFL unions against Pittsburgh's five largest department stores stands as one of the most violent in this steel city's history.

Vandalism and picket line disturbances have marked the strike since it began last Nov. 27. Violence has increased in recent months and police fear new outbreaks may come anytime.

Officers patrol sidewalks in front of the stores on a 24-hour basis, seven days a week. Squad cars prowl the streets at night. There is an air of tension at the stores.

Furniture Set Afire
On at least three occasions quick police intervention prevented picket line scuffles from developing into full-scale riots.

Damage includes 29 display windows shattered and many damaged by glass cutters with the loss estimated at about $40,000. Three truckloads of furniture have been set afire. There have been numerous paint bombings of buildings and private homes.

Police have arrested 106 strikers and persons described as "sympathizers" on charges ranging from disorderly conduct and assault with intent to kill to felonious burning and inciting to riot.

Sixty-one of the 106 were fined; 31 were discharged; 1 was turned over to juvenile court and 13 were held for grand jury action. Eleven of the 13 have been indicted and await trial.

Deadlocked On Issues
According to police, most of those arrested are members of striking AFL General Teamsters Local 249 and AFL General Warehousemen Local 636. The two unions have supplied a majority of the pickets.

Five store employees working as messengers also have been indicted on charges of riot and inciting to riot as the result of a fracas with pickets.

Stores struck are Gimbel's, Kaufmann's, Horne's, Rosenbaum's and Frank & Seder.

The Teamsters local, which had about 800 members employed at the stores, touched off the strike after negotiations deadlocked on two contract issues. They are:

1. Whether the union or the stores should have the right to designate when parcel post is to be used for making deliveries in certain areas.
2. Whether the union or the stores should have the right to determine when helpers are needed on package trucks.

Soo Lumber Co. Directors Deny Charges Of Avery

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Directors of the Cadillac-Soo Lumber Co. entered a denial in Federal Court Thursday to charges by Sewell Avery, Montgomery Ward & Co. board chairman, against a company dividend.

Avery claimed that a dividend voted by the directors was a move to liquidate the company's assets. His suit was filed in July. Avery contended that the dividend, $15 a share, was not based on actual earnings, and sought an injunction to stop payment of the dividend.

Filing the reply, a motion to dismiss the injunction petition, were Waldo R. Murphy and John S. Landon, of Sault Ste. Marie; George C. Thompson, of Grand Rapids; George G. Brown and T. W. Kelly, of Cadillac; W. C. Abendroth, of Reed City, and Clyde A. Saunders of Detroit.

Two other directors, W. W. Crapo of Detroit and A. E. Richardson, Jr., of Lansing, previously filed separate answers supporting Avery.

Avery held that the dividend would be taxable as ordinary income at rates up to 91 per cent whereas if the company assets should be liquidated as returned capital investment, the money would be non-taxable.

Quemoy Fighting May Be Revival Of Chinese War

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist planes and warships today raided the China coast for the 22nd straight day as speculation mounts here that the fighting around Quemoy might spread.

Informed quarters said there were some indications that the hostilities touched off by a five-hour Communist bombardment of Quemoy Sept. 3 might mark active resumption of the civil war, all but dormant since 1949 when the Reds won the mainland.

These sources said the big question appears to be whether the present fighting will remain localized, or flare into something bigger.

Nationalist planes today bombed Red positions around Amoy, and satellite bases from which the Communists have been shelling Quemoy, seven miles offshore, the Defense Ministry said.

Warships of the Nationalist navy patrolled the Fukien Province coast in the vicinity of Quemoy, the ministry added.

Democrats In Lansing Keep Michigan Ahead, Says Gov. Williams

IRON RIVER (AP)—The Republicans are ignoring "evidences of progress all around you" when they charge there is a stalemate in Lansing, Gov. Williams said.

In a speech Thursday the governor said that "the Republican candidate must have looked the other way when he crossed the Straits of Mackinac the other day. Or maybe he would call the rising piers and foundations of the world's largest bridge evidence of a stalemate at the straits."

"The past few years," the governor said, "since we have had Democrats in Lansing to work for

Iraq Tightens Up Ban On Reds

By WILTON WYNN
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq figures that Communists should have "an opportunity to visit the country to which they pay their first allegiance."

That was the view expressed by Prime Minister Nuri Said in proclaiming an ordinance threatening Communists with loss of citizenship and deportation.

The ordinance was issued as an amendment to an older law outlawing communism, under which convicted Communists received prison sentences up to 12 years. In extreme cases, the death penalty was given, and some convicted Communists have been hanged.

The job of implementing the new law falls to Iraq's Kurdish minister of the interior, Said Qazzaz, a coldly efficient administrator already noted for smashing communism in Iraqi labor unions.

"We don't intend to wait till the Communists are strong enough to take over this country. We are taking preventive measures now," Qazzaz said.

Judge Starr Upholds Federal Inquiry Of Holland Furnace Co.
GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr has ruled today the Federal Trade Commission has the right to continue an investigation into business practices of the Holland Furnace Co.

Judge Starr, in a formal opinion Thursday dissolved and set aside a temporary restraining order obtained by the firm Sept. 15. The order enjoined the FTC from proceeding with the investigation until after a court hearing was held.

Judge Starr held that his Federal Court district did not have jurisdiction and the right to interfere with the FTC probe.

The investigation followed complaints charging that Holland Furnace Co. salesmen and servicemen falsely represented themselves as inspectors and heating engineers, who delivered misleading reports to home furnace owners.

World Agency To Run With Or Without Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States pushed new plans today to set up an international agency to foster peaceful use of atomic power, with or without Russian cooperation.

Secretary of State Dulles outlined the proposal Thursday in a major U.S. policy speech in the ninth U.N. General Assembly.

Developing the ideas set forth in President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. last December, the secretary called for:

1. Creation of an international agency to include "nations from all regions of the world." Dulles said it is hoped the agency will start work "as early as next year."

Training School Proposed
2. Holding of an international scientific conference under U.N. auspices next spring to consider the "whole vast subject" of the peaceful use of atomic power.

3. The opening in the United States early next year of a reactor training school "where students from abroad may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peace-time uses."

4. Invitations to a "substantial number" of foreign medical and surgical experts to work with atomic energy techniques in U.S. cancer hospitals.

The top-level U.N. executive group in a hurried session after Dulles spoke broke its five-day week plan and scheduled a meeting on the atomic plan for Saturday.

The 15-nation committee, which decides whether to include items in the agenda, includes the United States and Russia. Debate on the agenda item may show what position the Soviets intend to take in the later Assembly debate. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky declined to discuss the speech with reporters.

Others Coming In
Dulles' speech disclosed that the Russians on Wednesday asked for new talks on President Eisenhower's original proposal.

The U.S. secretary said the Soviet Union had in effect rejected the plan last April when it said substantially it could not agree to it unless the United States joined in a "paper ban" on use of atomic weapons.

"The United States remains ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union," Dulles told his intent audience. "But we shall no longer suspend our efforts to establish an international atomic agency."

Unofficially, it was said that all seven countries so far consulted by Dulles had agreed to come into the agency. They are Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Portugal and South Africa.

Missed By Sniper
PUSAN, Korea (AP)—A sniper today fired a small caliber bullet into the U. S. Consulate here, narrowly missing Vice Consul Gordon K. Mott, Lakewood, Ohio, as he worked in front of a third floor window.

Japan Mourns Death Of Atom Ash Victim
By JOHN RANDOLPH
TOKYO (AP)—Japan plunged into almost hysterical mourning today over the death Thursday night of a 40-year-old fisherman who has become the nation's symbol of hatred and fear of atomic weapons.

Newspapers and radio broadcasts were virtually turned over to news of Aikichi Kuboyama's death. Much of the comment was anti-American, but not violently so.

A U.S.-educated Japanese newspaper editor said only the death of an Emperor could have commanded similar attention in the nation's press.

Kuboyama was one of 23 fishermen accidentally doused by radioactive ash in U.S. H-bomb tests at Bikini March 1.

Japanese doctors said he died of jaundice resulting from radiation sickness and Japanese physicians who performed an autopsy fixed radiation sickness as the fundamental cause of death.

A U.S. Army doctor who watched the autopsy, Lt. Col. James L. Hansen, said he "could not disagree" with the preliminary findings.

He added, however, that he would want to await a complete pathological examination before making final judgment.

Some U.S. scientists have said Kuboyama's jaundice could have resulted from a hepatitis infection introduced through blood transfusions.

No U.S. doctors were allowed to examine carefully either Kuboyama or the other fishermen, all of whom are still under treatment here.

U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison sent his personal sympathy to Kuboyama's widow, along with a check for one million yen (about $2,700).

Strangled By Snake
BENEVENTO, Italy (AP)—A non-poisonous and usually harmless water snake, about three feet long, strangled 5-year-old Maria Cusmano Thursday while she was playing at the edge of a pond. Workmen brought by her screams killed the snake but failed to revive the child.

School Racial Dispute Boils In Milford, Del.

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—This southeastern Delaware community was a powder keg of emotion today as the State Board of Education prepared to reopen the city high school on Monday to both white and Negro students.

The state board moved in, and the local board of education moved out, after a meeting Thursday night in the nearby state capital at Dover.

The school, originally opened Sept. 7 with 11 Negro students registered with 686 white pupils, has been closed all week under the threat of violence if the local board tried to maintain integration.

The local board stepped out Thursday night in a dispute with the state board over procedure. Neither group proposed to restore segregation at the Lakeview High School, the only high school in the Milford School District.

In the past, Negro high school students have had to go to schools in either Dover or Georgetown. What steps might be taken now by either side were unknown.

Thursday, anti-segregation pamphlets appeared in Milford. Signed by a person identified only as "Bryan Bowles" they told of a tour of Southern states by "Bowles" to check reaction to the U. S. Supreme Court's recent decision ending segregation in public schools.

The pamphlet stated that "99 per cent of the black and white people (in the South) are opposed to mixing their children" and that "people have threatened to dynamite (Southern) schools if this integration goes through."

McCarthy Case Action Held Up

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today he would not protest if a decision is made—on "reasonable" grounds—to delay until after the election Senate action on his move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

It was announced Thursday that no decision would be made for at least several days on when to call the Senate back into session on the politically touchy question. There were signs of swelling sentiment among some senators campaigning for re-election to defer the session until after Nov. 2.

Flanders, in a telephone interview from his home in Springfield, Vt., said "I am disappointed" at the announcement of a further delay.

"If senators who are running for re-election feel that way," he said, "I'm not going to run counter to their wishes. But there should be a private canvass by the leaders among all the incumbent senatorial candidates before they finally decide—both Republicans and Democrats. I think that will be done."

The special committee set up by the Senate to consider Flanders' resolution scheduled another session today in an effort to complete by nightfall its report, designed to serve as a guide to the Senate. The plan is to make the report public on Monday. Its tone is a closely guarded secret.

Explosion Of U. S. Jet Fuel Tank In Germany Kills 30

BITBURG, Germany (AP)—The death toll rose to at least 30 persons today from the explosion of a U. S. military jet fuel tank and five other persons were believed missing. There were no American casualties.

The known dead from the blast Thursday included 22 Germans and Frenchmen. Eighteen other persons suffered serious injuries.

The 120,000-gallon underground tank, one of several at the German end of a NATO pipeline pumping jet fuel from France, exploded during a fire fighting demonstration. Investigators said they had not ruled out sabotage.

Indiana Convict Scheme Nipped

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A scheme to print fraudulent payroll checks in the print shop at the Indiana State Prison has been broken up, and a skilled printer has a new assignment.

Hugh P. O'Brien, chairman of the State Correction Board, announced Thursday night guard J. E. Warren had discovered the plot.

O'Brien said the printer is Grant Dean, 55, serving a sentence from Ripley County for forgery. He didn't say what Dean's new assignment would be.

Warren found a check, apparently a working model, in a tool box used by Dean, who was working in the print shop. He said the model had standard deductions on it and looked exactly like a legitimate check.

Dean's tool box also contained counterfeit working cards for the International Typographical Union, a counterfeit Iowa driver's license, a New York bill of sale for a trailer and an Iowa certificate of ownership for a trailer, O'Brien said.

O'Brien said he believed Dean intended to smuggle fake payroll checks out of the print shop to be cashed by accomplices in Indianapolis and other cities. Officials were uncertain what he intended to do with the other papers.

Find Bergeson's Body In Big Bay

The body of Leland Bergeson, 44, Garden commercial fisherman who drowned Sept. 1 with the sinking of the fish tug Dawn, was found at 2 p. m. yesterday on the shore of Snake Island near Fayette by two Fayette commercial fishermen.

Snake Island is about one mile north of Fayette and about nine miles from the point near Round Island where the Dawn foundered in rough seas and sank while Bergeson, Edward Guertin and Howard Ansell were attending to lift nets.

Guertin and Ansell were rescued after clinging to a pound net stake for seven hours. Bergeson left the two and attempted to swim to shore on a plank from the boat.

Bergeson's badly decomposed body was found by John Halvorson and Lee Killoran of Fayette, who had gone to Snake Island to dismantle part of a boat owned by Killoran.

Surviving is Bergeson's mother, Mrs. Estella Bergeson of Gladstone. Bergeson was unmarried.

He was born Feb. 22, 1910, at Houston, Texas, and was a resident of Garden and vicinity since 1913. He was a veteran of World War II and served as an airplane mechanic in the European theater of operations.

A member of the American Legion Post at Garden and of the Congregational Church at Isabella, funeral services for Bergeson will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at the new Garden cemetery by the Rev. Darrell Abbott of Rapid River, with military rites by the Garden Legion Post.

The body is at the Skradski funeral home at Gladstone.

Reid Predicts GOP Victory

Lt. Gov. Clarence Reid, Republican candidate for reelection, predicted in Escanaba this morning that Donald Leonard, Republican, will defeat Gov. G. Mennen Williams in November "by at least 100,000 votes."

Reid is completing a campaign swing through the Upper Peninsula and is returning to Detroit today by plane for a series of weekend campaign meetings. He said that he planned to return to the Upper Peninsula later for four days before the election to meet engagements in Gogebic County and the Copper Country.

Lt. Gov. Reid, who is the labor representative on the Republican state ticket, reported that the Republican campaign is going smoothly and that the party ticket is gaining friends everywhere. Reid said that the personal popularity of Donald Leonard, Republican nominee for governor, is apparent throughout the state. He predicted that Leonard would cut sharply into the usual Democratic heavy vote in Wayne County. Leonard's home city, and that a tremendous outstate vote for Leonard would help him to unseat Gov. Williams, seeking an unprecedented fourth term.

Report Savings In Gas Utility

The cost of producing and distributing gas from the Escanaba utility has been reduced $27,204 below the figure for the previous year, and this has resulted in a lowering of the gas rate charged consumers, City Manager A. V. Aronson reports.

The city manager informed the City Council that residential and industrial gas rates have been lowered by the city as the result of the more efficient operation of the utility. City employees connected with the gas utility operation were praised by the manager for their successful efforts in reducing production and distribution costs.

In comparison of the number of utility meters as of January, 1953, and September, 1954, the city manager reported the gas utility had lost 38 meters, the electric utility had gained 410 and the water department had gained 119.

The investment by the city of $100,000 in tax money received and not needed in U. S. Treasury Bills which will earn interest until the funds are needed to meet city operating costs.

Lawyers Study Code For Press

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The State Bar of Michigan is asking news-gathering organizations of subscribe to a "code of conduct" governing the reporting of investigations, arrests and trials.

In convention Thursday, the bar adopted a resolution asking that a committee be authorized to negotiate with representatives of "newspapers and other media of communication" on setting up such a code of ethics.

The resolution was adopted against the recommendation of the bar's board of commissioners, which recommended that the subject be handled by the American Bar Assn. on a national level.

Harold Norris of Detroit, one of the sponsors, said "the issue is one of reconciling the rights of free press and of fair trial."

News disseminating organizations, he said, present problems to the legal profession of publishing the statements of witnesses before trials, of releasing the confessions of criminals, of questioning jurors after verdicts are rendered, of using inflammatory headlines and of swaying judges and juries.

William Coit Allee of Detroit, a commissioner, objected that "we would make progress quicker" if the matter were referred to the ABA.

"I don't believe," he said, "that you want to say all of the press is wrong. You don't believe the press should be damned up one side and down the other."

The convention asked the Legislature to crack down on police agencies which arrest and hold persons for investigation without a warrant.

Saying the practice was statewide and virtually a "custom" in Wayne County, the bar asked for legislation requiring sheriffs and police agencies to report weekly to the courts a list of all persons detained without a warrant.

Under the proposal the courts would have power to release an illegally-held person without a formal request.

Revised Zoning Goes To Council

A proposed amendment of the Escanaba zoning ordinance was recommended to the City Council last night by the Planning Commission following a preliminary public hearing in City Hall.

Jesse Pomazal, chairman, and Joseph Ivens, past chairman of the Planning Commission, reviewed the proposed zoning ordinance and its effect in changing land use zones in the city. Maps showing present zoning, the changed areas, and the proposed zones were used to assist in informing the small group of citizens who attended the hearing.

"Zoning must meet with the approval of the people if it is to be effective," Ivens noted. "We called this preliminary public hearing to receive the benefit of questions and comments of the people before recommending the proposed ordinance to the Council. We had hoped that this room would be filled."

Eight citizens, other than city officials and those on the Planning Commission, attended the hearing. A few questions were asked relating to the status of non-conforming uses under the proposed ordinance.

In recommending the proposed ordinance to the City Council, Planning Commission Chairman Pomazal noted that the Council will give public notice and hold a public hearing before the ordinance is adopted.

The Planning Commission in other business referred to a committee for study a proposed site layout for Karas Memorial Bandshell to be built in Ludington Park. The committee is to study the layout proposed by the city and report to the Commission.

1,400 Working At White Pine

WHITE PINE — White Pine Copper Company is providing employment for more than 1,400 people at present, with a combined payroll of approximately $120,000 weekly.

Since its start, March, 1952, it has had a stimulating effect upon the business of this area and has added substantially to the economy and well-being of the people in this part of the Upper Peninsula. Morris E. LaCroix, president, reports.

"If the work of construction and testing can be carried out without interruption the plant should be completed and begin to produce copper in December thereby providing the initial revenues necessary for continuous and profitable operation," he said. "The full complement of employees required to mine, mill and smelt the concentrates, to provide power, and to carry out collateral services necessary for the complete functioning of the plant, will number some 850 men, all skilled in their respective jobs. The weekly payroll will approximate $85,000."

"The rate of copper production over the immediate period after the construction is completed will depend in a large part on our ability to obtain and train men for their respective jobs. The rapid buildup of our organization into a coordinated and efficient group of workers is of paramount importance and dependent on the completion of the construction program," the president continued.

Wetmore Man Dies In Cave-in

MUNISING — George Johns Jr., 40-year-old Wetmore father of 11 children, was accidentally killed about 10:35 Thursday morning when he was covered by sand and gravel in a gravel pit cave-in east of Connors road, four and one-half miles east of Munising.

Johns and a son, Willard, 18, went to the gravel pit for sand and were loading their truck when the bank of the pit caved in. The son started digging his father out and had him all uncovered with the exception of one leg when a second slide occurred.

This time, the father was covered with about four feet of sand and gravel. The boy, realizing he would be unable to rescue his father, ran about two miles to the John Lennin residence on Connors road to telephone for help.

City work crews rushed to the scene and from six to eight men dug continuously for nearly 40 minutes before uncovering the body. Sheriff Arthur Motte, Coroner Dr. G. B. Wickstrom and city police who went to the scene to investigate said Johns was covered for about an hour.

Three other cave-ins which occurred while the digging was in progress endangered the city employees.

Johns, son of George Johns Sr. of Wetmore, leaves his wife, Lillian, and 11 children.

The body was taken to the Bowerman-Hallifax Funeral Home.

New Plan Approved In AFL To Settle Union Job Rivalries

By NORMAN WALKER

LOS ANGELES — AFL officials said today a new plan for settling job right rivalries between AFL unions will go a long way toward aiding labor peace.

The plan, calling for arbitration of such disputes that cannot be settled through negotiation, was unanimously approved Thursday by AFL convention delegates.

Jurisdictional fights between unions over which one's members should perform certain types of work have plagued the AFL for years. The convention's approving resolution said such strife has spurred much of the legislation restricting union practices.

Squabbles over work assignment have in the past often resulted in strikes and other labor troubles which employers have been powerless to settle.

The new plan leaves it entirely up to each AFL union on whether it will go along, but most of the AFL's 110 groups have indicated they will subscribe. Once they do they stand committed to follow the plan's procedures, all unresolved disputes would be put up to an arbitrator, or neutral, for a binding decision.

Only a few months ago the AFL and CIO put a "no-raiding" pact into effect. This similarity puts any organizing fights between AFL and CIO unions into arbitration for binding decision.

Speeches Cancelled; Sen. McCarthy Treated For Sinus Ailment

WASHINGTON — Sen. McCarthy, explaining he is under treatment for a sinus ailment, has canceled the three speaking engagements he had made for the congressional campaign period.

The addresses were scheduled at Omaha on Saturday, in Naperville, Ill., on Sunday and in Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 1.

Richard O'Melia, one of his staff aides, said today McCarthy will not be hospitalized but that his physician has forbidden any public speaking for the time being while the treatments are underway.

The three speeches were the only ones McCarthy had planned during the congressional campaign. He said last week he was turning down "hundreds" of invitations for campaign talks, because he wanted to catch up on work of his senate investigations subcommittee.

Butter Market Strengthened By Reduction In Price Props

BUTTER manufacturers in Wisconsin, the nation's No. 1 dairy state, are happy about the drop in government support prices from 90% to 75% of parity.

The butter price dropped about 8 cents a pound and consumption nationally increased about 7%. As a result butter is not piling up in government surplus warehouses as it previously did and butter makers believe that in a short time the dairy trade will begin buying butter from the government.

"Our sales are going up—now down", said the president of the Wisconsin Creameries Association.

The artificial pricing formula previously in use served to stimulate dairying in areas not suited for dairying. It supported inefficiency at the expense of the consumer and prevented the dairy industry from attaining a natural stimulation by competitive influences.

As a result of high butter prices thousands of persons who preferred butter as a spread for bread and similar uses were driven to acceptance of oleomargarine as a substitute. At least a part of this market is being regained by more realistic pricing of butter.

This development tends to show that the government's new farm program is sound and to the best interests of the country as a whole, despite the attacks being made upon it by administration critics.

Artificial pricing is always bad but particularly so when the formula that is used tends to establish price levels that are beyond the reach of a substantial segment of the population. That was the situation in the butter industry until the government price supports were reduced.

The butter industry is getting healthy again.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

I very nearly lost a reader the other day—one of my most faithful and devoted readers, too. She's a sprightly, flashing-eyed little lady whose age is none of your business or mine, and, though she now lives in Pleasantville, New York, her thoughts are often of her birthplace in Alabama. So it was with a certain sense of outrage that she read in this column a recent comment on the origin of the word "hush-puppy"—that tasty little morsel of deepfried cornmeal which I noted was first found in the South in the years "following the Civil War."

That did it! "William," she writes (being "kissing kin" of mine, she addresses me by the first name), "you know I have read your column faithfully ever since you started writing it. On the whole I have enjoyed it very much but tonight I find that you have committed to print that barbarous phrase 'The Civil War.' You of all people should know that that unhappy period in our nation's history should properly be called 'The War Between the States.' I feel you owe this one of your readers, at least, a prompt retraction."

Well now, I don't know about that "retraction" business. After all, a very substantial proportion of educated Americans have been using the phrase for a good many years now—although not very often south of the Mason-Dixon line. So, by the test of usage—and that's the standard modern lexicographers follow—we have to admit it to the language. WORDS: THE NEW DICTIONARY, for example, lists both phrases on the theory that each has achieved sufficiently wide-spread use to warrant dictionary listing.

Perhaps in the future if I have occasion to refer to this period, I should give both phrases in my copy with the suggestion that local editors strike out the phrase which doesn't accord with local custom. But even this device might not save my skin for there is also a school of thought which holds that neither of these terms accurately describes the events of 1861-1865. These last ditch warriors would have us call it The War for Southern Independence.

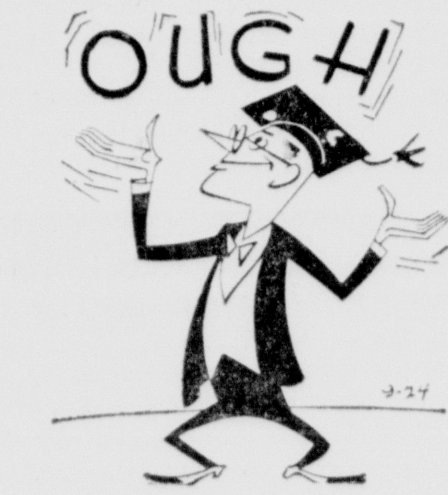

Speaking of matters Southern, NEW YORKER magazine recently told a restaurant in Tennessee which "unhesitatingly" serves Yankee Pot roast when ordered—but with a toothpick stuck into it from which flies a tiny Confederate flag!

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

The juxtaposition of the letters O, U, G, and H, and the various pronunciations thereof in the English language have long given students of philology conniption fits. One of them worked out this sentence to emphasize the problem: "A rough-coated, dough-faced ploughman strode through the streets of Scarborough, coughing and hiccoughing thoughtfully." A foreigner trying to read that line aloud would be excused for thinking, "It isn't ough; it's ouch!"

Pierre Lazareff, Paris Ce Soir editor, summed up journalism in one sentence for a college class: "A journalist spends the first half of his career writing about things he doesn't understand, and the second half concealing the fact that he understands them only too well!"

"Plastic surgeons and slick beauticians can shave about twenty-five years off a woman's age," sighs Elsa Maxwell, "but you can't lose a steep flight of stairs!"

The Doctor Says...

Now Is Good Time to Review Child's Vaccination Status

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

It is appropriate at the beginning of the school year to review one's children's status so far as protective vaccination or immunization is concerned.

Most children are given several of the vaccinations they need in the very first months or years of life. But often, in order to insure continued protection, these injections should be repeated one or more times during the schoolage period.

Furthermore, new developments continue to occur; it may well be that some of the older high school youngsters did not receive the toxoid injections against tetanus or lockjaw which are now so commonly given to small children, and therefore could profit by it.

HERE ARE SOME of the things to consider. Vaccination against smallpox is usually done within the first six months after birth.

After this vaccination which should be and almost always is a "take" (at that age), immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus (lockjaw) are often done. These are often given together by or before six months old usually by four ages. THESE FOUR are probably the most important protective inoculations for children. All of them, including smallpox, should be repeated in the later years of childhood to reinforce the resistance. Entry into school is a good time to consider such repetition.

Sometimes a question of other types of inoculation comes up. Among them is that against typhoid fever, which is a germ disease usually contracted from contaminated water, milk, fruits or vegetables. If a person is going to some part of the world where the sanitation is poor, inoculation against typhoid and possibly other diseases may be desirable.

THE ADVICE of the physician who takes care of the child from birth should be followed when it comes to giving protective inoculations. Remember that the situation may change.

Certainly these vaccinations are largely responsible for the much better chance of living through childhood which youngsters have now than those of even fifty years ago.

Today And Tomorrow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has about six weeks in which to perform the political miracle that a small group of so-called "liberal" Republicans who are his intimate advisers evidently expect him to achieve. For in six weeks the President is supposed to inspire the disaffected Republican workers and make them work their heads off to get to the polls the indifferent voters who stay away when they aren't particularly aroused about issues or candidates.

It's a tough job, because Mr. Eisenhower is starting late. A Republican national committee told this writer the other day, for example, that he had checked with other national committeemen at the recent meeting at Cincinnati to ascertain if any of them had ever had a private conference with the President since he took office on January 20, 1953. He couldn't find a single instance. He added that he wasn't referring only to former Taft committeemen but to pro-Eisenhower committeemen as well.

Now a national committee is elected by the delegations at the national convention. He is one of the political leaders of his state and is higher in rank than a state chairman, who is supposed to be concerned largely with state and local offices.

IKE NOT ON BALLOT

Why didn't Mr. Eisenhower see something of the Republican national committeemen in the various states? Maybe it's because there has been a steady effort to discredit the Republican party by those in the Eisenhower camp who keep insisting that the President won in 1952 not because of his party but in spite of it. Again and again, the statement has been made that Mr. Eisenhower ran ahead of the Republican ticket because his party was "reactionary," but this doesn't explain why his own campaign manager, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, a progressive, was defeated in Massachusetts in 1952. Nor does it explain those instances where the Republican nominees who won seats in Congress ran ahead of Eisenhower in 1952.

The fact remains that, in an off-year election, the name of the incumbent President isn't on the ballot. It's an out-and-out fight between the two major parties.

The real trouble with the Republican high command—the Eisenhower managers—this time is that they have thought they could win while alienating many of the members of the Republican party. There seems to be little thought about how to unite the party and considerable thought on how to keep it disunited. Many letters are pouring in to this writer from various states from Republicans who express that point of view. Typical among them are one from Maine and another from Connecticut. The correspondent in Maine, an eminent lawyer who has taken very little part in politics himself but who is in a position to know the undercurrents in his state, writes:

"In my opinion, the Republicans of Maine suffered but perhaps not as much as in some localities, through the breach between Senator Taft and Governor Dewey. As you may be well aware, the defeat of Senator Brewster (Taft leader) by Governor Payne doubtless left many wounded spirits which have not yet healed....

LUKEWARM POLITICIANS

"Two years ago last spring in the June primaries, Governor Cross was nominated by the efforts of his friends, hitherto not actively engaged in regular party politics. Most unfortunately, Republican party workers have not only failed to forget this defeat or their candidate but the governor apparently turned to his followers, so to speak, in the primary for advice during this two-year interval, with the result that the Republican party organization, at least in our end of the state—and I think statewide—was so lukewarm in the recent election that very little, and in some districts nothing, was so far as a political nature, especially insofar as seeing that the Republican voters exercised their franchise. It is this failure of responsible politicians to 'bury the hatchet' that, to my mind, has caused the result in Maine and will be very largely the cause of what may well result in the return of a Democratic House and Senate to Washington."

A FAST SWITCH (Menominee Herald-Leader)

Governor G. Mennen Williams, hailing the state's erasure of a $31 million deficit of last January and the accumulation of a surplus of more than $3.5 million, said that "we" did it. He meant, we supposed, that the Governor and the Legislature accomplished the switch from red ink to black. Since the Governor is the head of the budgetary and veto processes, this might seem a friendly and modest summation of what happened, but a closer look at the record explains why the Governor's claim for part of the credit for this substantial accomplishment makes the Republican Legislature shriek a protest.

The Governor proposed to the Legislature appropriations which would have left the budget almost $50 million in the red and the only balancing act he suggested was reiteration of his corporation profits tax. The Legislature rejected this tax in fear that it would chase industry out of Michigan and the Legislature substituted instead a business receipts tax spread thinly over all business to create a minimum adverse effect upon employment in the State. The Governor did not even sign this budget-balancing tax, but let it become law without his signature. The other chief ingredient in the achievement of a surplus was the action of the Legislature in trimming out of Governor Williams' budget items totaling $6.5 million. The Legislature and not the Governor is to be credited with the State's surplus.

Couple Pioneers New Baha'i Religious Faith Out In Idaho

AP Newsfeatures
LEWISTON, Idaho—A young couple arrived in this city of 14,000 early this year with one purpose: to change a statistic.

They knew no one here, had no contract for work, did not know where they were to set up house-keeping. In order to live in Lewiston, they had changed their whole way of life, had sold their share of a profitable family furniture business in Milwaukee, a fashionable home, a car, and had abandoned a prominent position in Milwaukee's social life.

Bob and Shirley Niss decided to make this Northern Idaho community their home because it was a "gold city"—nowhere in it or near it was a single adherent of the new religion, Baha'i.

Niss has a simple explanation of the couple's decision to leave familiar surroundings and start again from scratch:

"We've found a good way of life and we want to share it with others."

Their job of sharing has not been easy. Since their arrival in February, there has been opposition from some local ministers and lay people to the use of the YMCA building for explanatory discussions of Baha'i, which—generally speaking—is a way of life that its disciples maintain embraces all religions, all peoples and all countries, seeking to unite them in brotherhood.

But after six months, Niss feels sure progress is being made. "We feel as if we've been here all our lives," he says. "We like it and we're getting along well." He reports the attendance at Baha'i meetings has increased steadily, though not rapidly, and maintains that more and more of the simply curious are becoming genuinely interested in Baha'i.

The Nisses stayed at a motel after they first arrived, while Bob looked for a job and a home. He shortly found both—he's working now at St. Joseph's Hospital and they have moved into a small house. The couple has one child, John, 3.

What is the way of life that uproots young intellectuals like 35-year-old Niss and his wife, a beautiful former model, and sends them as missionaries within their own country?

Baha'i finds expression in words you might think unfamiliar to the ranch house living rooms of suburban society such as the Nisses knew in Milwaukee. The words are taken not only from the advice of Jesus Christ to his Apostles to spread the gospel. It is also in the injunction of Krishna, eighth avatar of Vishnu, who in the Hindu epic Bhagavadgita says, "There is a task of holiness to do unlike world-binding, which bindeth not the faithful soul; such earthly duty do, free from desire, and thou shalt well perform thy heavenly purpose."

Baha'i recognize all the major religious figures of old. They say each prophet came to the world to interpret the word of God according to the world's ability to understand it at the time of the prophet's appearance.

Thus, they say, the latest in the line of divinely inspired messengers that includes Moses and Zoroaster is the father of their universal faith—a Persian princeling named Baha'u'llah, who died in 1892 after 29 years of teaching.

The major principles of his program are these:
Men must seek for truth in spite of custom, prejudice, and tradition.

BAHA'I PIONEERS — Bob and Shirley Niss, with their 3-year-old son John, at home in Lewiston, Idaho, where they came to pioneer a new religious faith.

Men and women must have equal opportunities, rights and privileges.

The nations must choose an international language to be used along with their mother tongues.

All children must receive a basic education.

Men must make a systematic effort to wipe out all those prejudices which divide peoples.

Men must recognize that religion should go hand-in-hand with science.

Men must work to abolish extreme wealth and extreme poverty.

At present, the Baha'i movement has members in 175 countries.

Baha'i has no form of worship, as understood in the West. At a service, they hear readings from one another of the great prophets. They are not evangelists, "at least not at this stage," Niss says. They will not try to convert any of their new friends in the communities they pioneer. But if anyone asks them about Baha'i, or about the qualities of understanding and helpfulness they try to exhibit, they are prepared to answer.

How does the urge toward Baha'i start in a man, and grow until he feels it as an enrichment of his life that he must share with his fellow man?

Niss says it's a little difficult to say. He himself was exposed to Baha'i thought as a boy, since his father was an early mover in a Milwaukee group. But not until three years ago did his interest deepen, he says. His father never pressed his opinions on his son, Niss says, "apparently because he didn't feel I was ready."

Baha'is say that the greatest danger to spiritual progress, particularly in the West, is materialism and "the conviction of young men," Niss says wryly, "that social standing, a fashionable suburban home and a big car represent success."

They do not feel, however, that business success is ungodly, but only try to get the material life into a practical position where it does not overshadow spiritual growth.

"Material things were put at our disposal for a purpose," he says. "We feel that whatever we can acquire justly can be used justly for our purpose."

SUGGESTION BOX — Escanaba City Hall is an old building of brick and brown sandstone and the outside shows its age. Inside, however, it presents a fairly modern appearance, since it was remodeled back in the WPA depression days.

But what we want to remark about is the fact that just inside the inner doors at City Hall, reposing in a recessed section of the wall, is a box lettered "Suggestion Box."

Into this receptacle the citizenry is invited to place constructive suggestions for improvement of the city and its government. City Manager A. V. Aronson told us that two suggestions have been placed there since the box was put out about two months ago.

Both were complaints of a minor nature—not suggestions or constructive criticism.

Does this represent public apathy to the problems of local government? We don't think so. Rather, it indicates that in the majority our citizens are satisfied with the way our city is operating.

CONSTRUCTIVE—I suppose I should stop here and consign the remainder of this column to the suggestion box in City Hall—but then I would be without a column and you would not share with me the pleasure of making constructive suggestions.

First, I suggest that the city place a couple benches in the City Hall lobby near the collections windows where people pay their utility bills and their taxes. Not that people need some place to collapse after paying their bills, but if the banks find it good business to have benches for their patrons, so should the city.

Second, I suggest that the collections windows be enlarged so the people will get a more open and friendly look into the collections office. The window ledge should be widened in the process.

Third, there should be a desk or something similar in the lobby (but away from the windows) where a person can sit down to write out a check to pay his bill. Again, the banks have such a facility, complete with calendar and pens—with free ink in them.

Escanaba residents and property owners annually pay more than $1,000,000 in utility bills and taxes to the collections office personally or by mail. Cost of the improvements suggested above would be comparatively slight.

FOR THE PEOPLE—Let it be known that we are neither critical of the city administration nor interested in making suggestions that would be costly or difficult to accomplish.

But here are a few suggestions which we believe would be welcomed by the citizens of Escanaba and the people who visit here:

The letting of one or more concessions for children's rides and the serving of refreshments in Ludington Park. Hot dog and ice cream stands may not be architecturally attractive, but all of us like to eat—especially when we're at the park. The suggested rides would be for the entertainment of children only.

And would it be possible for the city to offer its cooperation (for a price) to blacktop the parking area at the Chicago & North Western Railway station? Such a proposal, coming from the city, might encourage the C&NW to go even farther with beautification of the station and the area.

Improvement in street signing, so the street names and numbers can be better seen at night, is also suggested—but the city through its public works department is one jump ahead and is now studying methods to solve the problem.

So much for our suggestions. As you can see, they are on the minor side so far as city government is concerned. But a city is judged by its citizens on the basis of "little" things as well as the big operations and projects.

Perhaps the above may suggest additional suggestions that you will want to write out and place in the City Hall suggestion box. But keep them constructive and within the city's ability to accomplish without raising taxes.

SUSPECT

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn has now met most of the Carlsons, a wealthy family summering in the Colorado mountains. Jim and his wife Nancy have been retained by Mrs. Kit Carlson who wants them to investigate a death on the West Coast which might be murder. Jim and Nancy are posing as caretakers. Mrs. Hilton Carlson, Mrs. Kit's mother-in-law, is feared by Mrs. Kit. Mrs. Oswald Carlson, the mother of Mrs. Hilton's husband, is rather eccentric and has a hobby of taxidermy.

Through the cook, Mrs. Gelstrap, Jim Dunn was informed that his client, Mrs. Kit, had taken to her bed with the beginning of a cold.

"Brought on by chill, don't you doubt it," Mrs. Gelstrap said. "I just do hope you'll be able to keep us warm tonight!"

He returned to the cabin in disgust, went to bed too early to a night of restless nightmares in which an animated furnace pursued him through stacks of untouchable wood.

He woke up cold, just as the first sunlight touched the far side of the lake, moved across the water and seemed to pull a wispy tenuous mist with it.

Nancy had made a warm nest of all the covers and murmured sleepily as he got up. He had a momentary and almost irresistible impulse to pull the bedding away and accuse her of cover snatching.

Jim Dunn stretched and yawned. He dressed.

He started down the path toward the main house, in the belief he might still find some embers in his nemesis, the furnace.

He passed the turn in the path before he saw the car.

It was a small but highly polished coupe, parked near the lake shore.

He walked more quickly then, cursing silently at the sound of rushing water which could hide so completely the sound of a motor. He stopped suddenly, retraced the steps he had made in the car's direction.

The door to the basement was open. It stood wide, and he remembered distinctly closing and locking it the night before.

The basement was a gloomy cavern. Warm, pitch-scented air gushed past him to escape into the early morning chill.

He reached for the nearest dropcord light, turned it on. A nagging familiarity about the small coupe churned in the back of his mind, was pushed aside in the stress of the moment.

The wood he had piled so laboriously, heavy pitch chunks and odds and ends of logs, threw a dark shadow at the far end. He reached the next light.

The elevator!

The last thing he had done the night before was to fill it with a liberal supply of wood and crank it up into the recess in the floor above. But the supporting ropes showed now, and the recess was no longer closed by the under side of the platform.

Jim moved more quickly, but with an added caution, and turned on the last light. The elevator platform held little wood now, carried a far different burden.

Was More Than Illegal Fishing

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police are looking for an angler with a new angle.

Officials of the suburban Northwest National Bank reported they found a fishing line with two three-pronged fish hooks and four regular hooks in the chute of the night depository.

The would-be angler had lowered the hooks down the chute but they became snarled and lodged inside the depository.

Railway And Storm Put On Big Show

WARRENSBURG, Ill. (AP)—Residents of this tiny hamlet and nearby Dawson received the scare of their lives when a new gas turbine locomotive and a big wind and thunder storm passed through at the same time. It was the first appearance here of the new type locomotive making an unusual noise caused by its huge turbine rotating at some 7,000 revolutions per minute.

OLDEST STATUE

Although the equestrian statue of Gen. Andrew Jackson in Washington, D. C., is the oldest in the United States, it was not the first such statue. A gilded lead statue of King George III was dedicated at Fort George, N. Y., in 1770, but was torn down in 1776 by a mob of patriots. Later the statue was melted into bullets for the Revolutionary Army.

Berle's Beauties Return To TV; Football Starts

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK (AP)—Milton Berle, back on NBC-TV for his seventh season, has taken up just about where he left off last spring.

That means the show is a combination of Berle gags, augmented by a situation or two, and numbers by a chorus of beauties.

Of course there was a chief guest star, Mickey Rooney to start off. I thought he did a better job for Berle as a live performer than on his own filmed show recently introduced.

This season Berle has Nancy Walker, comedienne from the musical comedy stage, as a cast addition. She was a big help with the laughs. Of course Arnold Stang, as Francis, and Ruthie Gilbert, as Maxine, are back, but they didn't seem to have their usual amount of time before the cameras. There was an increase in the number of commercials.

Berle's next show will be Oct. 5, with Martha Raye to use the time next week. This will give him every other week off.

All four of radio's major networks will be in the football action Saturday afternoon for the first time this season as two of the TV circuits continue college and pro games. The schedule, time CST:

On radio—Duke vs. Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, NBC 11:45 a. m.

Penn State vs. Illinois at Champaign, ABC at 12:15.

Three-hour roundup, CBS 12:30. 20 or more games with play by play detail on five, start postponed from last week.

Texas vs. Notre Dame at South Bend, MBS 12:45.

On television—pro game, Toronto at Montreal, NBC-TV at 12.

College game, Michigan State vs. Iowa at Iowa City, ABC 2:15.

ABC says approximately 150 stations will be in the hookup.

All-White Town Adopts Negro

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (P)—To understand why Geoffrey B. Onuoha is en route from Nigeria to Tennessee, you need to know the Cherokee community—a tiny place, with a big heart and a will to do things.

The farm community, northwest of here in neighboring Grainger County, won the state community improvement contest in 1951; the rural church of the year award for Tennessee in 1952. It is a Protestant community, with no Negroes.

When the Department of State and the Tennessee Valley Authority distributed international publicity—in seven languages—a few years ago, a few words were devoted to Cherokee, on the banks of Cherokee Lake.

Read Publicity Booklet

Here's the rest of the story, told today by Vic Weas, columnist for the Knoxville Journal:

In Lagos, Nigeria, in British West Africa, a Negro youth—Onuoha—read one of the publicity booklets. He began writing to citizens of Cherokee. They replied and soon felt as if they knew him.

"Tennessee is my favorite foreign country," wrote Onuoha. "My favorite song is 'Tennessee Blues' (waltz?). I received my education in a Catholic mission school, which I believe would compare with your secondary schools.

"My father and mother and brothers and sisters have not had the opportunity to get an education. They live in a native village.

"My greatest ambition is to come to America and continue my education. I desire an education so I can help my people.

"I would be willing to work as a servant, and make any bond required, to repay anyone who would help me get an education in America."

Welcome Planned

Cherokee, a community used to doing things, decided to take Onuoha under its wing, raised $1,000 to post with the U.S. Immigration Service for his entrance and return passage.

It found that nearby Morristown College for Negroes would admit Onuoha, help him obtain a passport and arrange for him to earn $100 of his yearly expenses of $450.

Cherokee thinks, somehow, it can manage the rest.

Onuoha is to arrive at the Knoxville Airport Saturday.

He will be met by his friends in Cherokee, a Southern community with no Catholics and Negroes, helping a Negro Catholic it has never seen to realize his greatest ambition.

Perch Fishing Good Off Beaver Island

LANSING (P)—Fishing should improve this weekend after a week of little action due to poor weather, the State Conservation Department said today.

Some good perch fishing was reported during the past week along the Lake Michigan shores near Northport, at Grand Traverse Bay, in Saginaw Bay and in Lake Charlevoix.

There also was excellent perch fishing at Beaver Island.

Rainbows were hitting fair on the Big Manistee River and on the Au Gres River in Arenac County.

Bass fishing was fair to good in Saginaw Bay. Pike and panfish catches were fair in the Fletcher floodwaters.

Split In Germany Will Be Problem For Many Years

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (P)—Divided Germany will be a problem for the West and Russia for years. No wonder both sides are pulling so hard in opposite directions, with no solution in sight.

The United States and Britain have obvious reasons for wanting the West Germans rearm in a hurry and made part of the Western defense against Russia.

The crucial time element makes them look not only to the immediate military benefit but to the uncertain future.

Worries For France

The difference between West Germany rearm and unarmed, facing the Russians, is the difference between a door, locked, and a swinging door.

The Allies would have to defend West Germany against Russian attack anyway, even though the Germans were unarmed. But if they remained unarmed the task might be impossible.

Once the Germans were armed, as the French have made abundantly clear through their expressed worries, the Allies would have the problem of seeing that rearmed Germany didn't get out of bounds to become a new terror.

The Allies will meet in London next Tuesday and again in Paris in mid-October to seek the double answer of rearming Germany and keeping her within bounds afterwards.

Mood May Change

But time is working, and it may not be working on the side of the Allies. At this moment, under the pro-Ally and anti-Communist leadership of Chancellor Adenauer, the West Germans want to get into the Western defense alliance.

But Adenauer will not always be there, and whether he is or not, the mood of the West Germans may change if the Allies, through their indecision, keep them dangling indefinitely between heaven and earth.

They are dangling now and have been since the war. The Allies have not given them the right to rearm nor permitted them independence, American, British, and French troops occupy the country. The three powers keep a veto over Adenauer's government.

But the Germans have made an astonishing recovery from the war and are growing in strength. They can't be expected to remain in a second-rate position forever.

It was thought that under the European Defense Community, calling for a single army, the Germans couldn't menace their neighbors again since they would be serving with troops of other nations under a unified command.

New Complications Seen

For various reasons the French killed EDC. There was a wide gap in the hope that EDC could positively prevent revival of a German national army.

Adenauer's West German government could agree to submerging its armed forces in a single research conducted by the expedition's geologist, Brian Daily, has "revealed for the first time the geological history of Melville Island."

By foot and canoe, Mr. Daily explored the northern coast where he examined beds of Pleistocene plant fossils. A short time before he found rock outcroppings to the northwest remarkably well preserved.

These Pleistocene fossils, according to Mr. Mountford, "upset the previous theories regarding the age of the island which was thought to have belonged to the Cretaceous."

Pleistocene times date back through the glacial age, only about 1,000,000 years, millions of years later than the Cretaceous period when only a few of the earliest mammals lived.

Australian Isle Offers Fresh Data On Natives

WASHINGTON (P)—Scientists have recorded for the first time a complete range of the ceremonies and underlying beliefs of the natives of Melville Island, off northern Australia.

Charles P. Mountford, Australian ethnologist and leader of a National Geographic Society expedition, reports he found a "rich and remarkable series of myths dealing with the creation of the world and the heavenly bodies, the transformation of men and women into the creatures and plants of today, and of the great creator ancestors who laid down the laws of marriage, of hunting and of daily behavior."

The party has spent the summer on little-known Melville Island studying the art, mythology and tribal customs of the aborigines, particularly their strange and elaborate burial ceremony, the Pukamuni. There is no parallel in Australian ethnology to this rite.

Visited by Douglas

In the midst of its studies the expedition was visited by Justice William O. Douglas of the United States Supreme Court. Justice Douglas, who has made repeated trips to the Orient to climb the Himalaya Mountains and who this year hiked the length of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal from Cumberland, Md., to Washington, is now on a round-the-world tour.

Before leaving the capital for Europe, he expressed curiosity about the natives of Australia, a region he had never before seen. During lecture engagements on the continent, he arranged to explore some of its more isolated areas.

Justice Douglas landed on Melville Island near the end of July. Mr. Mountford commented that "it was considerable pleasure to welcome as well-travelled and notable an American as Justice Douglas to the expedition."

European Army. But the time might come when Russia would release its hold on East Germany and let it be united with the Western half.

If then a new, all German government was created, would it abide, or feel obliged to abide, by the agreement made by the old West German government? Or would it withdraw and set up its own, new national army? The Allies face that problem in any plan they work out for rearming West Germany now. But bringing it into the Western Alliance now would give them some hope for believing a new German government would stay in.

The Russians have been doing their best to persuade the West Germans they would lose all hope for a reunified Germany if they join up with the West. The Germans are in the middle of this power-pull. If the West Germans turn neutralist, in the hope of getting Russia to yield up East Germany, and if Russia ever does, then:

The united Germany could dictate the future of Europe, and perhaps the world, by making an alliance with the West or Russia.

Gogebic Club Stages 1st Hare Trial Ever Tried In Enclosure

System Called Successful By All Concerned

IRONWOOD — The first hare trial ever conducted in the United States within an enclosure was held here last weekend, and everyone concerned stamped the unique experiment a pronounced success.

With 75 entries competing, the Gogebic Range Beagle Club ran off its fourth AKC - licensed field trial in an 80 - acre enclosure. Attracted Nationwide Attention

The trial, which attracted nationwide attention because of its unusual feature, was run off so smoothly that it's entirely likely other beagle clubs in the Upper Peninsula and elsewhere in the nation soon will begin planning enclosures for their contests.

"I could see no fault in the enclosure system at all," said Howard Willson, secretary of the Gogebic club. "The system worked fine for all classes, even though the trial was conducted under extreme conditions — a terrific downpour of rain on Saturday and very high winds on Sunday."

Beagling Authority Impressed

Willson said both of the judges, neither of whom was from the Upper Peninsula, complimented the club on its enclosure.

I. W. Carrell, Greenfield, Ohio, editor of Hounds and Hunting, a beagling magazine, also was highly impressed with the enclosure system, according to Willson. Carrell is regarded as the greatest authority on beagling in the United States. He made the trip to Ironwood expressly to see how the fence setup operated under actual running conditions.

It was Carrell's second trip to the Upper Peninsula. He first came here 20 years ago to attend a trial conducted by the Lake Superior Beagle Club of Chassell, the oldest beagle unit in the Upper Peninsula. (The Ishpeming Beagle Club is the second oldest, with the Iron Mountain - Kingsford and Ironwood clubs following, in that order.)

1,200 Cedar Poles Used

The 8,000 - foot fence runs completely around the club's grounds six miles north of here. It stands about four feet high with a single strand of telephone wire running along the top to protect the fence proper from falling tree limbs.

The material is one - inch mesh, heavy galvanized fencing. It came from the Hermansville fox farm, which is now defunct. Approximately 1,200 cedar poles were set up to support the fencing. Soil was filled in along the bottom of the fence to prevent hares from digging their way out.

Club members worked on the enclosure for more than a year, completing three - quarters of it by last fall.

Decision to construct the enclosure was made primarily to restrict running packs, thus eliminating the possibility of having dogs lost, but the fence system has proved beneficial in many other ways. For instance:

1. It speeds up and improves judging. Before the fence was installed, Gogebic club members had to cut numerous trails to permit judges to get better views of the hounds in action. And even then, much of the driving went out of sight of the judges. The enclosure allows the judges to have the hounds under view much more closely.

2. The fence keeps hares safe from predators and hunters, assuring an abundance of rabbits for driving.

3. It keeps out deer that might throw dogs off the rabbit trail.

"All in all, the enclosure proved even more successful than we thought it would," Willson commented enthusiastically. "The 80 acres proved very adequate for four hares were caught by the hounds during the two-day trial, which is a low quota. The enclosure certainly was a boon to the handlers."

Fencing its running grounds isn't the only innovation undertaken by the Gogebic club. The organization is the only one in the Upper Peninsula which has a public address system on its grounds. Not content with that, the club now plans to install complete telephone communication in its trial area. The single strand of telephone wire above the fencing will be utilized in setting up phone service.

The Gogebic club also has erected bleachers on an old logging road that runs through the center of its grounds. The bleachers permit spectators to see considerably more of the action than they ordinarily would be able to witness during a trial.

"We're trying to make a perfect, artificial running grounds here," Willson stated. It appears as though the Gogebic club is well on the way toward its objective.

Dana Honored

Samuel Trask Dana, dean emeritus of the University of Michigan's school of natural resources and one of the nation's most distinguished foresters, recently received an award from the American Forestry Association for his lifetime of outstanding service in the field of conservation. Dana was succeeded as dean at the university by S. G. Fontana, former resident of Iron Mountain.

Iron Mountain Gun Program To Be Filmed

IRON MOUNTAIN — Pupils of the Iron Mountain High School may find themselves featured soon on a state - wide television show emphasizing hunter safety education.

The Conservation Department plans to "shoot" movies at the school next Tuesday when a firearms safety program is conducted there for pupils from Grades 8 through 12. Bob Harrington, Lansing, department photographer, is scheduled to be on hand to record scenes from the program for showings over the department's weekly television show which is telecast by several Michigan stations and by the Green Bay video station.

Five boys from the school will aid Paul Challancin, Marquette, regional education supervisor for the department, and his assistant, Roger Norden, also of Marquette, in staging the demonstration that is designed to teach beginning hunters the importance of safety in firearms handling.

Began Two Years Ago

Similar demonstrations will be presented at schools in Stambaugh (Oct. 5), Houghton (Oct. 14) and Hancock (Oct. 15).

The department first staged this type of demonstration at Iron River two years ago. It was presented in Escanaba a short while later. The programs proved so successful that they have since been repeated in schools throughout the Upper Peninsula.

37-Pounder Biggest For Alger Port

GRAND MARAIS — Largest lake trout taken out of this Alger County port this year was a 37 pounder landed recently by Charles Harris of Bay City.

The whopper, which was 42 and a half inches long and had a 29-inch girth, was caught on rod and line while fishing from Capt. Bill Klaser's boat.

Officially, the largest lake trout taken last year was a 39-pounder fish landed by an angler in a boat skippered by Capt. Charles Child. Unofficially, Bill Vudrie, Grand Marais, was reported to have taken a 42-pound lake trout in 1953. It was not entered in the Grand Marais trout derby however,

U. P. Carrier Count Shows 'Pat' Decline

SHINGLETON — The sharp decline in the Upper Peninsula's ruffed grouse population and a gradual increase in deer populations are reflected in results of the annual rural mail carriers survey tabulated here recently by the staff of the Cusino Wildlife Experiment Station.

Seventy - eight carriers, representing every county in the Northern Peninsula, cooperated in the survey by keeping a tally of the numbers of deer and grouse they observed on their daily routes.

From 5.2 To 2.8

Results show that carriers saw an average of 5.2 partridge during the 12 - day period from July 28 to Aug. 9, 1952, compared with an average of 5.7 for the 18 - day period from Aug. 3 to Aug. 23 last year and an average of only 2.8 for the 18 - day period from Aug. 2 to Aug. 21 this year.

For deer, the corresponding figures are an average of 2.9 for the 12-day period in 1952, an average of 3.3 for the 18-day period in 1953 and an average of 4.3 for the 18-day period in 1954.

50 Per Cent Decrease

With the same number of carrier - days of observation as last year, the total number of grouse seen dropped from 447 in 1953 to 213 this year, a decrease of more than 50 per cent.

The deer figures correspond closely with recent conservation officer reports. Both sets of deer figures turned out according to predictions from Cusino last March based on 1953 deer hunter checks.

'Cougar' Tales Spread To Two More Counties

If all the reports of mountain lions being seen in the Upper Peninsula are authentic, sportsmen north of the Straits possibly may begin agitating soon for a bounty of cougars.

Rumors about mountain lions—or some strange animals looking a whole lot like them—have now spread to two more Upper Peninsula counties. As yet, however, no one has shot one of the critters. In fact, so far as is known, no one has even taken a plaster cast or a photograph of any of the beasts' footprints. Game biologists, meanwhile, are standing mutely by, tongues - in - cheek. Until they have positive evidence, none of them is ready to concede there now are mountain lions in an area where none have been authentically reported before.

Chippewa County Report

The current rash of "cougar" reports began in Alger County where several persons reported seeing large, cat-like animals with long, snaky tails in the vicinity of 16-mile Lake.

Another report later came from Chippewa County, where four Sault Ste. Marie residents reported seeing a similar - appearing animal. One of the persons, the Rev. Lyle J. Koenig, described the beast as standing between 30 and 36 inches at the shoulder and measuring about four and a half feet in length, exclusive of the tail. He said he measured the tracks and found them to be about five inches in diameter.

The latest report came from an unidentified Marquette resident who is said to have seen a large "tawny - colored" animal with white underparts and a long tail near the Dead River Basin. The animal reportedly was running a deer down when it was observed.

Quick Shots

Dogs were the only casualties in the recent bear hunt near Brimley sponsored by the Jaak Walton League chapter of Sault Ste. Marie. Two of the hounds were mauled by a bear and severely cut. One hunter got a shot, but missed. On an earlier hunt in the same area, five bears were taken. The special nine-day bear season was restricted to Chippewa County only.

Drummond Island Open

There may be certain scattered areas in the Upper Peninsula where the ruffed grouse population has held up better than in others. For instance, Ivan Thomson, Crystal Falls, district game supervisor, said that Menominee County appeared to offer the best possibilities for "pat" shooting of any of the border counties. Otto DeWard, district game supervisor at Neahvay, reported the west part of Mackinac and the southwest part of Schoolcraft to hold the most promise for partridge hunters.

Drummond Island, incidentally this year will be opened to ruffed grouse hunting for the first time in five years.

Simultaneous Openings

With ruffed grouse harder to find this year, many Upper Peninsula sportsmen will choose other targets on and after Oct. 1. There'll be plenty to go gunning for: Opening simultaneously with the ruffed grouse season will be the seasons on waterfowl, woodcock, sharp-tailed grouse (and prairie chickens), snowshoe hare and—in the southern part of Menominee County only—pheasant. Also, beginning Oct. 1, archers may legally start their quest for deer and/or bear and firearm hunters may take bear.

The waterfowl season promises to be fairly good this year. Herb Miller, Lansing, state waterfowl specialist, has said that the Michigan "hatch of birds this year was only fair compared to last year, but we can expect Canadian ducks later in the season to make up for any shortage of local birds." The latest report from Canadian breeding grounds is that prospects for fall waterfowl flights are good.

The general hunting season on ducks, geese, brant, coot, sora and other rails and gallinules will extend from noon, Oct. 1, to sunset, Nov. 24. Bag limits are changed this year. Last year, hunters were allowed four ducks of any species, including one wood duck, plus 25 red-breasted or American mergansers, plus one hooded merganser. This year, hunters are allowed four ducks total, which may include one hooded merganser and any combination of other ducks—except the wood duck, which was put on the "no hunt" list this year—and including red-breasted and American mergansers. Daily limit on geese and brant is five, including not more than two Canada geese, or two white-fronted geese, or one Canada goose and one white-fronted goose.

Spring counts of woodcock were up in Michigan, but a sudden freeze - up could send many of the birds south from the Upper Peninsula before the season starts. The season extends through Nov. 1. Bag limits are four daily. (The jacksnipe season runs from Oct. 1 to Oct. 15 inclusive, with a daily limit of eight birds).

Sharp-Tail Picture

Sharp-tailed grouse populations may have declined slightly in the Upper Peninsula, according to Wakeman, but he expects their numbers to be holding up pretty well in comparison with the last two years. The season on sharp-tails and prairie chickens extends to Nov. 1, inclusive, with daily bag limits of five. (Only two known colonies of prairie chickens exist in the Upper Peninsula, both near Sault Ste. Marie.)

Good sharp-tail shooting grounds are scattered throughout the Upper Peninsula. They include the Topaz - Matchwood area in the west end, Floodwood Plains in the Marquette - Dickinson County line, Kingsford Plains in Alger County, Seney marshes in Schoolcraft County, 8 - mile Corner in Luce County and Drummond Island.

Snowshoe hare numbers are expected to be down in the Northern Peninsula from last year. The season again extends to March 1 with a daily limit of five.

Pheasants may be shot in the Upper Peninsula only in Menominee County south of Highway U.S. 2 and only from Oct. 1 to Oct. 10, inclusive. Limits are one a day, two in possession and four in a season.

Archers may take deer of any sex anywhere in the Upper Peninsula, except in Chippewa and Menominee County where the "bucks only" rule still applies. However, on Drummond Island, which is part of Chippewa County, bowmen still may try for "any deer." The archery season extends through Nov. 5.

Bear may be taken either with bow and arrow or firearms through Nov. 5 on a small game license. Use of dogs is permitted for firearm hunters during this season.

Small Game Season Opens Next Friday; Duck Outlook Good

The small game season in the Upper Peninsula opens next Friday, but the outlook for ruffed grouse—the king of Northern Michigan game birds—is far from optimistic.

Subject to cyclic ups and downs in its population, the partridge this year apparently has approached the bottom of the downsizing in its cycle. Populations of ruffed grouse are reported to have dropped from 30 to 50 per cent from last year's numbers.

Marked Upswing Due

Game officials emphasize, however, that as surely as there is a sharp decline in "pat" numbers this year, there will be a marked upswing within the next few years until another peak is reached in the bird's mysterious 10 - year population cycle.

The last real low spot in the Upper Peninsula's partridge population occurred in 1945. Wisconsin and Minnesota elected to close their seasons for several years during that period in the face of reduced "pat" numbers, but Michigan kept its season open. When the other two states re-opened their season and the birds had come back, their ruffed grouse kill per hunting day was found to be almost identical with Michigan's. In other words, it appeared that when the peak re-appeared in 1951, Michigan had as many or more partridge than either of the states which had closed their seasons.

State game officials apparently are convinced that hunting plays a very minor role in grouse populations. They are keeping the season open 30 days again this year with the daily limit remaining at five.

Partridge populations in the Upper Peninsula began going into a gradual decline in 1952 and 1953. This year the decline was sharp. Max Wakeman, Marquette, regional game supervisor, said the early May snowstorm which swept the Upper Peninsula may have caused the drop to be sharper than it would have been ordinarily, although ruffed grouse frequently nest again if their first clutch or brood is destroyed early in the season. Sharp-tails would have escaped practically all effects of the storm because of their later nesting.

At any rate, observers throughout the Upper Peninsula have uniformly reported lower grouse numbers this year than last. With only one exception, conservation officers throughout the U. P. said they have seen less "pats" this year than in 1953. A census by rural mail carriers likewise reflects this sharp decline. (See story elsewhere on this page.)

Floodwood Spray Job Rated Good

CRYSTAL FALLS — Spraying of 50 acres of sharp-tailed grouse habitat on the Floodwood Plains near the Marquette - Dickinson County line was rated fairly successful by Ivan Thomson, Crystal Falls, district game supervisor.

Thomson said a power wagon with a high pressure spray unit was used this summer to eradicate the large area with an herbicide to kill back vegetation. By this killing off re-vegetation, the area is made more suitable for the sharp-tail, a bird of the open spaces that refuses to linger where vegetation is closing in. Deer and other wildlife also benefit by the creation of these openings.

The Floodwood project is one of three spraying operations undertaken in the Upper Peninsula this year to improve game habitat. The first such project was conducted on Drummond Island, where a plane was employed to spray about 300 acres. The second project was north of Shingleton where 80 acres were selectively sprayed from the ground.

Duck Stamps On Sale At Post Offices

MARQUETTE — Post offices throughout the Upper Peninsula have received their supplies of 1954 duck stamps, which are now available for purchase by waterfowl hunters.

The stamps are on sale at all first and second class post offices in Northern Michigan and at certain third and fourth class offices. They cost $2 apiece and are required for all persons who hunt waterfowl.

8,079 Sold Last Year

Last year, when the Marquette post office served as the distribution center for the Upper Peninsula, 8,079 duck stamps were sold in Northern Michigan, according to Postmaster Jack Courtney. The stamps were sold at 126 of the 207 post offices in the Northern Peninsula.

Chicago is serving this year as the distribution center for all duck stamps sold in Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois.

Blind Sucker Dam Building Gets Started

GRAND MARAIS — Construction work has been started on the Blind Sucker dam in northwest Luce County and is expected to be completed during October.

The dam — which is being built to improve habitat for waterfowl, fish and furbearers—is being constructed about 12 miles east of here. It will flood about 1,050 acres at the confluence of the Dead Sucker and Blind Sucker Rivers.

The project is being financed under the Pittman - Robertson program.

USE SUN NAVIGATION

Honeybees use sun navigation in flying from the hive to distant flower patches and back again on a true bearing. Returning bees "tell" other members of the hive how to find a rich feeding place by means of a complicated waggling dance, showing the correct direction with relation to the sun's position in the sky.

Average Bow Hunter Bags Only 1 Deer In Every 16 Years, U. P. Archer Says

BY IVAN THOMSON

CRYSTAL FALLS — The invention of the bow probably marked the time in the history of man when he first gained control over the beasts of the earth.

For many centuries our ancient brother depended on bows and arrows to furnish himself with food and clothing, for protection from the hazards of those early times, and to fight his many battles.

Became Lost Art

It was not until the advent of gunpowder in the 17th century that the bow gave way to the more accurate and efficient weapon, the gun. For a long period thereafter, archery was almost a lost art. In very recent years, however, the bow has become a popular implement of sport. Michigan sportsmen were among the first to recognize the unlimited possibilities of bow hunting, and the sport has grown by leaps and bounds over the last 10 years. Only 759 bow licenses were sold in 1942, whereas around 32,000 tried their hand at this sport last fall.

The gun hunter sometimes feels that the Bowman is either crazy or a king sized optimist. This is probably because he sometimes finds it difficult to bag a deer with his keenly accurate and high-powered rifle. It is true that the average bow hunter can expect to bag only one deer for every 16 years that he hunts. It is this small chance of success that makes bow hunting so sporting.

The bow in the hands of an accomplished Bowman is a potent weapon. The killing power has been many times demonstrated. Such large and dangerous animals as grizzly and old Kodiak bears, moose elk and lions have been bagged by archers. Several African elephants were taken by notable archer Howard Hill in recent years. Each year a surprising number of Michigan black bear are bagged by bowmen. The deer, however, is the major target of the bow hunter of this state.

The archer is a finicky fellow and exercises great care in choosing his equipment. The bow should be from 45 to 65 pounds in pull. The arrows should be matched to the bow so that they will fly properly. Most archers spend many hours during the summer practicing and competing with fellow Robin Hoods, preparing for the deer season. The muscles in arms, shoulders and chest must be strengthened so that the bow can be held steady when drawn. Archery tackle makers are now offering a great variety of fine tackle.

Next he must choose what he thinks is the most suitable place to hunt. There are plenty of targets in most of the deer range of both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. Deer still are using their summer range in open or semi-open season. This is open or semi-open part of the range. Archers generally do not disturb deer enough to cause them to take to heavy cover. This of course is to the Bowman's advantage. It is much easier to hunt in the more broken cover than in swamps or heavy timber stands.

Three Common Techniques

He also must consider the behavior of deer when choosing a likely spot. Deer in general are fat and in good condition. Food is abundant. Deer prefer the clover, grasses and tender herbaceous growth. Open and semi-open areas are preferred feeding places. Deer seem to use the same feeding grounds day after day during this period unless they are disturbed. They are not too active and move only in early hours of the morning and late evening to feed. They seek out clumps of brush or heavier cover adjacent to their feeding grounds to bed down for the rest of the day.

THRILL OF A LIFETIME — In close and on his knees, Ivan Thomson, Crystal Falls, author of accompanying article, draws on approaching deer. Thomson, who is a district game supervisor, was in Upper Peninsula archery championship in 1949, 1950 and 1951. Archery deer season opens next Friday and extends to Nov. 5.

The next consideration is what hunting technique is apt to be the most productive. The three most common methods used are still hunting drives and hunting from a blind. When still hunting the archer moves very slowly, keeping himself as inconspicuous as possible. This method requires more stealth than the average archer can muster and is not too productive. Organized deer drives do not work as well for bow hunters as for rifle hunters. The most productive method by far is hunting from blinds.

The blind should be built on a well - used runway leading into a feeding area. It should be situated rather close to the trail, as the average deer is shot at 30 yards or less. If possible, a single archer should have two or even three blinds that he can use. Constant use of a single blind may cause too much disturbance in a single spot. When deer approach the blind they should be allowed to come into an open site, because even a twig may deflect the arrow off the target. Use extreme caution when drawing the bow, as deer will detect the slightest movement. If possible draw before the deer stops when it is looking in the opposite direction, or when it has its head to the ground. For a clean kill aim at a three - to - six-inch spot just behind the front shoulder. After the deer is hit, the archer should remain in the blind for an hour, giving the animal time to bleed and die. The trail will lead to the prize and the thrill of a lifetime.

Central Dickinson County was the site of one of the state's concentrations of walking stick insects this year. The insects, which defoliate oak trees, customarily invade areas in Michigan every other year.

A sharp-tailed grouse in the Garret area of Mackinac County recently hanged itself in attempting to fly between two power lines.

Toivo Haapala, Traunuk, who recently hunted four timber wolves in one week, added another the following week—a pretty fancy pace for a 67-year-old fellow.

Construction work has begun at Isle Royale National Park on the heels of the closing of the tourist season there. Work will continue until the close of navigation if weather conditions permit. Crews will also work to provide more trails on the island.

Attendance at the Baraga State Park has increased 7,850 over last year. To date, the attendance has totaled 79,085. A total of 1,608 campers, 335 more than last year, have been registered this year.

Farmer Wins Pastures Prize

By ED MARKAITY
Associated Press Farm Writer
GRAND RAPIDS — Chuck Snyder, of Allendale in Ottawa County, has won a district prize in the 1954 Better Pastures contest with a practical method of flood and drought control.

Snyder works 109 acres along the south bank of the Grand River near Allendale.

He, along with countless farmers, has two seasons to fear.

The river's spring flood rampage inundates a large part of his acreage. Later in the year the drought season bakes the soil into a hard substance. At least that's what happened until he whipped the problem.

Permanent Meadow
Snyder now keeps the "bottom" area in permanent meadow to prevent the soil from washing away during flood times. Most of his pasture and hay land is seeded with an alfalfa-brome-ladino mixture but, on a small area of wet land, he has put in reed canary grass.

The canary grass gives early spring and late fall grazing for his dairy cattle. During those times, pasturing in the alfalfa — mixed planting would injure the seedling grass.

The alfalfa mixture, with ladino heavily predominant, and reed canary grass has withstood the floods to solve one half of the problem.

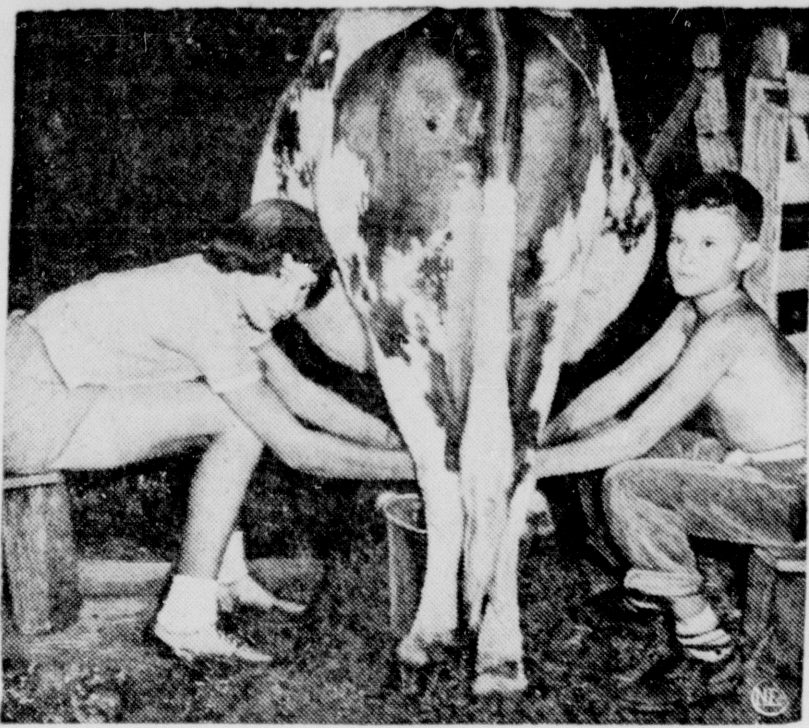

Irrigating the pasture in dry seasons has fought off the drought effects.

Hay Yield Increased
Snyder believes regular pasture irrigation on the pasture alone would not be profitable as a full time operation. But, he says, it pays off during the occasional necessary times and adds that irrigation can be done for other crops to make its equipment worthwhile.

The irrigation, Snyder says, has increased his hay yield and grazing capacity of each acre. This year he pastured 14 cows on a 10-acre field which included the ladino mixtures and canary grass. Snyder says he makes liberal use of fertilizer according to crop and soil needs despite the heaviness of pasture soils.

Dairy farmers who live near cider mills or vinegar plants have a source of excellent substitute for silage right at their doorstep.

Researchers at the New Jersey Experiment station say cows like apple pulp, the by-product of apple cider or vinegar, and it gives almost the same production results as corn silage.

TWO-WAY COW — There's an old tradition that cows MUST be milked only from the right side. Otherwise, the milker is liable to get a hefty hoof in the chin. But here's a complacent cow that just doesn't give a darn. It's owned by Dan Kauth, of Treseott, Kan., who is now with the U. S. Army in Germany. "Maggie" was trained to be an ambidextrous milker this summer. Here, Judy and Jerry Kauth are seen doubling up on the milking chores.

Potato Show Will Be Held Here Nov. 2-4

By J. L. HEIRMAN
Delta County Agricultural Agent
The Upper Peninsula Potato Show will be held in Escanaba this year on Nov. 2, 3 and 4. This show will celebrate its 25th anniversary this year. The first Upper Peninsula Potato Show was held in Escanaba 25 years ago. We hope that all Delta County potato growers will participate in the Upper Peninsula Potato Show and help to celebrate the 25th anniversary. Let's show some real Delta County hospitality. Let's put the show over with a bang!

Short courses in the field of agriculture are covered in a new Michigan State College catalog now available at our office. General agriculture and home economic courses will start Oct. 25 for the fall term. If you have any interest, stop in for a catalog and discuss it with us.

How much grain to feed a dairy cow is always a $64 question. The answer might be "ask the cow". One way of finding out is to start out with a moderate amount. Increase grain and see if the animal responds by increasing milk production to the extent that it pays for the extra feed.

Grain must be fed in accordance with milk produced. Weigh milk from each cow at least once a week. Measuring milk is fairly accurate figuring one quart equals two pounds. Weigh grain at least often enough to know how much each cow gets.

The most careful dairyman weighs each milking, each grain feed. The "non-weighing" dairyman almost always overfeeds poor cows, underfeeds good cows, thus, losing money and not getting all the milk the herd could produce. We have some feeding recommendations on a mimeographed sheet; ask for a copy.

The new tax law passed by the last Congress gives farmers some new deductions in filing an income tax. The deductions deal with Soil Conservation practices. Some of the practices include leveling, terracing, diversion and drainage ditches, controlling waterways, planting windbreaks and eradicating brush.

This one is for the women. If your home water supply has been softened, don't use it on your house plants. When water is softened, its calcium has been taken out and sodium has been added. Most plants can't tolerate much sodium. Rainwater or distilled water is satisfactory for watering your house plants.

Census To Take Measure Of Farm Mechanization

Despite the continued decline in farm population, American farms, through mechanization and improved methods, have been able to meet the food needs of a total U. S. population now reaching 163 million. Farm population was estimated at about 21.9 million or 13.5 percent of the U. S. total, in April of this year. Peak farm population was 32.5 million in 1916, about one-third of the U. S. total.

An inventory of much of the mechanized equipment and farm facilities which have enabled the farmer to increase his production with less manpower will be a part of the 1954 Census of Agriculture to be taken in October and November.

Farmers will be asked to report on the number of tractors of various types—wheel tractors other than garden, garden tractors, and crawler tractors—kept on the place. When the number of tractors, on U. S. farms was first counted in the 1920 farm census, 229,332, or 3.6 percent of all farms reported a total of 246,083 tractors of all kinds. Thirty years later, the 1950 census found 2,525,206, or 46.9 percent of all farms had a total of 3,609,281 tractors. In the same period the number of horses and mules on U. S. farms declined from more than 25 million to 7.6 million.

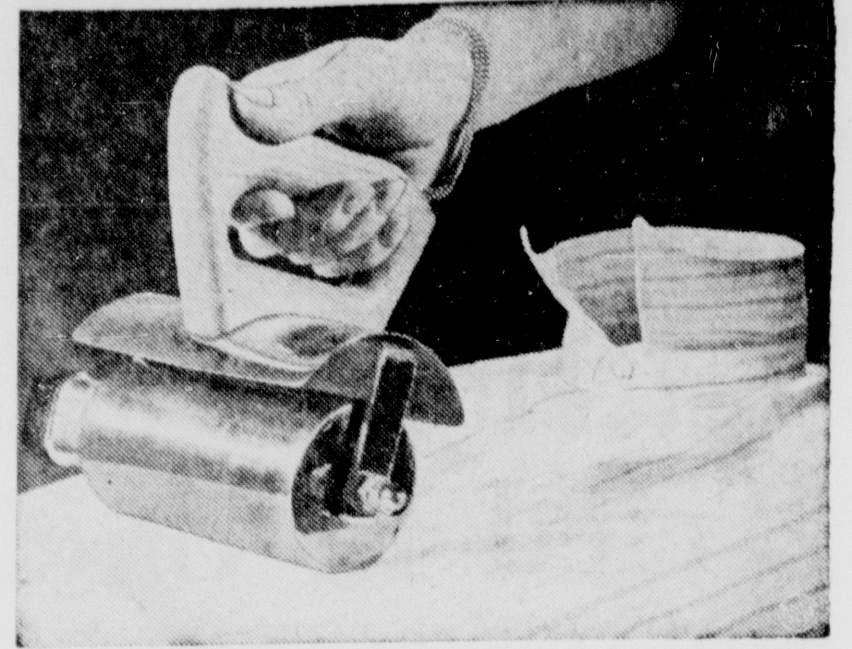

Other equipment to be counted this fall includes grain combines, of which 713,633 were reported in 1950; corn pickers, which numbered 455,519 in 1950; pick-up balers, 195,858 in 1950; and field forage harvesters, not counted in 1950.

Farmers will also be asked to report the number of automobiles and motortrucks, including pickups, used on their farms. In the 1920 census, first to include these

Baked Potatoes Help Grow Roses

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa — You probably think potatoes and roses have little to do with each other. But at the J. F. Wilcox & Sons greenhouse here the spuds are a big help in raising roses.

Every time new roses are planted at the nursery, the soil is sterilized. This is done by "cooking" the soil with steam pipes. The Wilcoxs bury a potato in each square foot of soil, and when the potatoes are "baked," the soil has been sterilized.

State Board Of League Conducts Workshop Here

Members from the League of Women Voters of Iron Mountain, Menominee, Powers and Escanaba attended the first Upper Peninsula workshop on League problems and procedures, at the Delta Hotel in Escanaba yesterday. Sessions were held in the morning and afternoon with a luncheon recess at noon.

Mrs. Sumner Myers, Mrs. Joan Ramsey, Mrs. Paul Jordan, Mrs. Chester Cable and Mrs. Thomas Gwyn of the State Board and Mrs. Bernice Morse of the Ann Arbor League conducted the workshop division. Mrs. Morse replaced Mrs. Modesta Gamble of the State Board who was unable to attend.

Panel Discussion
The meeting opened with greetings from Mrs. Russell Johnson, president of the Escanaba League and introduction of State Board members. This was followed by a panel discussion on the functions of the League executive with Mrs. Cable, moderator, and Mrs. Violet Powolowski, Menominee, Mrs. Ardella Johnson, Powers, and Mrs. Myrtle J. Bartholomew, Iron Mountain, participants.

The members then divided into groups to conduct workshops on areas of League problems and interests. In the afternoon workshops reported to a general session with summaries and recommendations.

Of interest to the general public is a recommendation by the workshop on international trade that the four Leagues cooperate in a survey of the effects of international trade, both exports and imports, on local industry agriculture and mining, reported by Mrs. John Anthony Escanaba Leagues all over the United States are studying the problem of international trade. The recommended survey would be in line with the League policy of gathering facts upon which to base decisions for recommended legislation and action.

Other Reports
Reports from the workshops were given by Mrs. Phillips Peters, Menominee, Mrs. C. W. Fessenden, Menominee, Mrs. Jesse Pomare, Escanaba, Mrs. L. T. Wader, Escanaba and Mrs. James Kekoe, Menominee.
On the basis of the attendance and accomplishments of the workshop it is proposed to hold a second one on the remaining areas of League activities. The tentative place is Menominee and the date Nov. 17.

Home Extension Clubs Begin Their Study Of Cancer

Four home demonstration clubs, Jolly Dozen of Flat Rock, and Gay Beas, Do-Ettes and Skilled Jills of Escanaba, held their opening fall meeting and first session on the study of cancer, county project for the year, last evening at Bethany Lutheran Church parlors.

Mrs. F. W. Schmitt, service chairman of the Delta County Cancer Society, explained the making of jackets for cancer patients out of old white shirts or gowns and the knitting of odds and ends of wool yarn into afghan squares. She also suggested giving strips of old soft sheets, or the complete sheets to the cancer closet.

Mrs. C. L. Harrison, loan fund chairman, told the group how funds are provided for stricken families. There is no interest on such loans, she said. She also cited the many memorial funds which are donated to the cancer loan fund.

Mrs. Harrison, in the absence of Miss Jean Miller, educational chairman who was unable to attend, showed several films on different phases of cancer, prevention and early detection. A question and answer session conducted by a representative of the Delta-Schoolcraft Medical Society followed.

Mrs. Clarence Carlson, Mrs. Leonard Vader and Miss Ingrid Terovonen were guests. The lunch committee was Mrs. Glenn E. Matheson, Mrs. Patrick Miron, Mrs. Arthur Carlson and Mrs. Arthur Lauzon.

HOAX DELUXE

One of the most remarkable things about bridge is the success that occasionally can be gained from jettisoning sure tricks. There is a large class of such plays; the following is simply a striking example:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♦	Pass
2♦	Pass	3NT	Pass
4♦	Pass	4♠	Pass

West opened the deuce of hearts; East won and returned the suit. South ruffed the second heart and looked for the safest way to play the hand for 10 tricks. Since all of the trumps were equal, he could cross-ruff without fear of an over-ruff, and in that way he could count on taking seven trump tricks—making dummy's two trumps separately—plus the ace of diamonds and the two top clubs.

It is standard technique to cash top cards in side suits before embarking on a cross-ruff, so South began by laying down the ace of diamonds. It was at this point that East made a sensational play: he dropped the king of diamonds.

South should not have been side-tracked—there was always the possibility that East, a fine player, was being very "cute"—but South could not see anything except the 12 tricks which were now apparently there for the taking. Why cross-ruff for 10 tricks when it was "obvious" that he could win five trumps, five diamonds and the two top clubs? Why indeed! South abruptly gave up the cross-ruff plan. He drew trumps—incidentally exhausting all of his own in the process—then took the "automatic" diamond finesse to dummy's nine.

South's face was a study in incredulity and horror as East pounced with his diamond ten and cashed two more heart tricks, defeating the contract.

The spacious country home at 4739 Haslett Road, Okemos, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Farrell, former residents of Escanaba, was the setting recently for a tea honoring Mrs. G. "On the formal guest list were wives of the appointees, many of whom had never met each other, plus a few interested Democratic women who dropped in informally.

"The net result was a happy, get-acquainted party which overflowed from the pretty old-fashioned 'parlor' still equipped with a Victorian era, mirrored organ, to the green and white papered dining room where both tea and punch were served.

"Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's First Lady and honor guest, chose to wear a full-skirted green and orchid printed white silk afternoon dress, girdled with purple velvet.

"She stood in a receiving line with Mrs. Farrell, attired in gold linen with square neckline and sheath lines, Mrs. Leavitt, and Mrs. McCarthy.

Antique Coffee Service

"Punch was served from a green-garlanded cut glass bowl on the white-painted buffet and coffee was served from a handsome antique silver coffee service on a linen and lace covered table. The table centerpiece was fashioned of red gladiolus from the Farrell garden.

"The dining room is wallpapered in Victorian design as is most of the house, except for some remodeled cedar paneled bedrooms. Woodwork is white-painted, curtains, white-ruffled, windows big and views magnificent over the surrounding country."

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (P)—Notre Dame Stadium's 57,000 seats will be filled twice this weekend—for the Notre Dame-Texas football game Saturday and a preview of 1935 Studebaker models Sunday.

Parent Education Session Here Tuesday, Oct. 5th

Parent Education Leadership Training and its importance in PTA activity in the community, will be stressed at a morning and afternoon session sponsored by the PTA and held at the session room of the First Baptist Church on Tuesday, Oct. 5. The morning session will be between 9 and 11:30 and the afternoon session between 1:30 and 3:30.

Reservations are being made for about thirty local people with about half that number of openings still available.

These training sessions have been arranged by the State Board of Parent-Teachers and are under the direction of the University of Michigan. Mrs. Belle Farley Murray, of the University faculty, will have charge of the session, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Otto, of Jackson and Mrs. Neven L. Bean, of Detroit.

Mrs. LeRoy Wilson, in charge of local arrangements, states that anyone interested in parent education leadership, is cordially invited to enroll and that people from outlying areas contiguous to Manistique are particularly urged to attend. Should any wish to enroll they should contact the office of the superintendent of Manistique Public Schools.

According to the sponsors, Parent Education Leadership Training should be helpful in a community in many ways. Particularly:

"Uncovering varieties of leadership qualities present in any individual and group but not always brought to the fore.

"Offering opportunities in group experience which help us to develop our leadership potential through awareness of it and through knowledge and understanding."

A final session will be held here on Thursday, Oct. 14.

Local Resident Back From Summer Trip To Sweden

Karl Elton Larson, with the Larson Hardware, returned to Manistique Wednesday from his old homeland in Sweden where he has spent the past three months—principally at Sundsvall and surrounding area.

He made the trip across early in June by boat and returned by air.

Sweden, he says, appears to be prosperous, the only apparent trouble being an unusually wet and cold summer which had an unfavorable effect upon the hay and forage crops. The same spell of bad weather, he noted, was prevalent in other European countries.

Asked if he heard any cold war comment or noted any tenseness over relations between Russia and that country, he said he heard no talk whatever except comment on a visit of a Russian ship to Stockholm and the results of a football game at Moscow between the Swedish soccer team and the one representing Russia.

Judge Doyle Adds Impressive Crime Curb To Procedure

Judge E. J. Doyle has started something new in his efforts to make his office and his duties a bit more effective in the reduction of traffic violations in his jurisdiction.

He has acquired a number of illustrated pamphlets entitled "Death on the Highway," and whenever some young speeder is brought before him and flippantly pays his fine, the judge adds a bit more to the customary fine and costs. He orders the young person to sit down and check over the illustrations in the book. The illustrations, as may be inferred, show accidents in their goriest details.

The judge states that he finds it unnecessary to add any further admonition. "Some of the young fellows look pretty sick before they have turned more than three or four pages," he says.

Film To Be Shown At Bethel Baptist

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Menominee, next football foe for the Escanaba Eskimos, boasts an impressive gridiron history . . . The Maroons have been playing football for 60 years and have amassed 260 victories against 113 defeats . . . Coach Ken Radick has been at the Menominee helm for five years and has turned in 30 wins, seven losses and a tie . . . Last season was his poorest with four wins, three losses and a deadlock.

Joe Milokna, Escanaba grid coach, recently discussed the advantages in having a good grade school football program . . . Such programs, for instance, as at Ironwood, Menominee and Sault Ste. Marie where regular grade-school leagues are formed each fall . . . Along that line, here's an interesting item penned by Hap Rondeau, sports editor of the Iron Mountain News:

"There is a strong possibility that Iron Mountain will become a football factory within the next few years . . . Few people realize this, but there are over 75 seventh and eighth grade kids learning football fundamentals from trained personnel almost daily at the high school stadium . . . In addition, these kids are fully equipped and soon will be playing regular inter-grade games . . . Coach Moon Molinari is pushing the program and hopes it will soon expand to include fifth and sixth graders."

One of Escanaba's ardent hockey fans showed her loyalty and interest in the Hawks at this early date . . . Mrs. Waino (Eleanor) Petaja won a merchandise prize at the recent hockey smorgasbord . . . She immediately donated the prize, a $5.50 meal ticket, to the first out-of-town hockey player who joins the Escanaba Hawks for the 1954-55 season.

Albion, coached by Morley Fraser who made headlines while at Newberry a few years back, is a pre-season favorite in the tough MIAA football conference . . . Fraser has 15 returning lettermen and Albion last season finished with a 4-1-1 league record.

Central Gridders Travel To Canadian Soo Saturday

Catholic Central High School makes its longest trip for a football game Saturday afternoon to play Soo Collegiate at Canadian Soo. The game will begin at 1:30 (EST).

Coach Tom St. Germain's Central gridders are crippled in the backfield and first stringers have been sitting on the sidelines during practice sessions this week.

Bob Rodman, right halfback, is nursing a knee injury that kept him on limited service against Stambaugh last Saturday. Quarterback John Berrigan has been sidelined with a back injury.

Reshuffled Lineup
The reshuffled lineup, which has operated in practice and is likely to start at Soo, has Bill Lancour shifted to quarterback, Jim Greenwood at fullback with a freshman and a sophomore taking the place of the injured regulars. Frank Katrinski, frosh, has been running from the left half slot and sophomore Cliff O'Donnell has been at right half.

The Central line is intact with all regulars in shape. At the

Eskymo Bee Team At Stephenson Saturday

The Escanaba Eskymo reserve football team, with a 20-6 victory over the Manistique Bees under their belts, will play at Stephenson Saturday night at 8, Escanaba time.

Coach Frank Miketina's Eskymo Bee squad, numbering 40 candidates, is composed of freshmen and sophomores. Freshmen, allowed to compete in the senior high athletic program for the first time this year under a MHSAA ruling, make up about half the squad.

Stephenson's Bee team will also be seeking its second victory. The Eagle reserves bested Menominee last week.

Slated for starting action Saturday night are Bucky Flath at quarterback, Charles Lindquist at halfback, Ken Brandt at fullback, Gary Sedenquist and Bob Hall at ends, Jerry Olson and Bill Wolk-

Spartan-Iowa Game Heads Big Ten Menu

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State's pressure-packed, nationally televised game at Iowa Saturday headlines the opening of the Big Ten football season.

The only other conference engagement sends Indiana to Ohio State.

The other teams face strong inter-sectional or traditional rivals in what is considered the roughest over-all Big Ten opening round in years.

Iowa, Michigan State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio State and possibly Michigan figure high in the title race. Purdue may be a sleeper. Minnesota, Northwestern and Indiana are geared for upsets.

The Iowa-Michigan State clash is one of the key games in the championship struggle. Most experts rate the game a toss-up.

Buckeyes Favored
Ohio State is favored by 13 points over Indiana whose improved Hoosiers include a potential sophomore sensation, halfback Milt

GLADSTONE—One of the feature games on the Upper Peninsula high school football schedule this weekend will be played at Marble Athletic Field here Saturday afternoon with the Gladstone Braves host to the Manistique Emeralds.

The Great Lakes Conference clash will be the 32nd game between the two schools.

Injuries continue to dog the Gladstone eleven. J. C. Miller, who performed well at left halfback last Saturday against Munising, suffered a bruised leg in practice Wednesday and probably will be unable to play this weekend.

In midweek practice the Braves didn't look too sharp but this ironed out in a subsequent session.

Bratonia, Burton Back
If we don't have a let-down and if we can stop Bill Holm and Don Anderson, the two big guns in their backfield, I think we can beat them," said Coach Don Piontner yesterday.

While Miller is out, both Jim Bratonia and Chuck Burton, halfbacks, are ready to go again and all others in the starting lineup are in good shape.

Manistique has a two and one record, defeating Ishpeming 21-0

Cooks, Cards To Open Bay De Noc Playoffs

First game of the best-of-three championship series in the Bay de Noc baseball league will be played at Cooks Sunday afternoon with the Manistique Cardinals providing the opposition.

The same teams met in the playoffs last season with Manistique winning two games for the title.

Cardinal manager Fred Lesica will send Don Carlson against the heavy-hitting Cooks crew. Cooks teed off on three Cornell pitchers last weekend for a 16-3 victory to make the final series. Manistique earned a berth in the playoffs by beating Garden in the sudden-death opener last Sunday.

Joe Halverson, whose pitching brought Cooks up to the playoffs

Eagles Travel To Kingsford

STEPHENSON—The Stephenson Eagles will be bidding for their first victory tonight at Kingsford against the twice-victorious Flivvers.

Stephenson's hopes were dimmed by injuries to co-captains Tom Kakuk and Dave Rivard, who will not see action. Mike Dolack and Joe Leavack will replace the injured players.

The Eagles' running attack was improved against Iron Mountain with Al Forester, right halfback, averaging six yards per trip on 14 carries and freshman Ron Kakuk picking up 45 yards on eight runs. However, Stephenson completed only one pass against the Mountaineers.

In the offensive starting lineup for Coach Alton Cowan will be Bischel and Strohl at ends, Hubbard and Gueky at tackles, Cappari and Leavack at guards, Houdski at center, Dolack, Forester, Martin and Halvorsen in the backfield.

Kingsford's victories were posted over Marquette and Niagara, Wis.

Australia has so many import-export boxers from England and the United States that promoters are finding it difficult to get local pugilists to meet them.

Cleveland Mound Staff Rated Baseball's Best

(Last of three)

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland will have 10 pitchers and the New York Giants 12 available for the 1954 World Series, but numbers mean little when the pennant-winners meet next Wednesday.

Able and experienced Bob Lemon, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia, Bob Feller and Art Houtteman plus a vastly improved bullpen gave Manager Al Lopez the finest mound staff in many American League seasons.

Statistically, Cleveland holds the edge over New York in complete games, earned run averages and just about every comparable basis except shutouts, where the Giants have 16 to the Indians' 12.

Top Mound Staff

Collectively, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have racked up 64 of their club's 110 victories. Lemon has a 23-6 record, Wynn 22-11 and Garcia 19-8. Feller, chipped in with 13 triumphs and Houtteman, shaking off a "hard luck" tag of long standing, won 15 games.

The Cleveland pitchers have gone the distance 75 times to New York's 44. Lemon, Wynn, Garcia, Hal Newhouse and Ray Narleski all have earned run marks under 3.00.

The Giants' Johnny Antonelli, with 21 victories, has the majors' best earned run average, 2.31. Ruben Gomez won 17 games and sage old Sal Maglie 14.

Good Relief Corps

There's no belittling New York's relief pitchers, either. Knuckieball Hoyt Wilhelm has won 12 games and Marv Grissom 10. Left-handers Don Liddle and Windy McCall also have shown flashes of brilliance. The home run ball conceivably could play an important part in the series. In this department, Cleveland also has the advantage. Garcia has been tagged for only four homers all season, Lemon 10 and Wynn 21. For New York, Antonelli and Maglie have permitted 21 apiece and Gomez 20.

Feller, at 35, will be seeking his first World Series victory. Bob had two chances in 1948, but lost both, one by a 1-0 count.

Interior Opposition

Not to be overlooked is the fact that Cleveland's hurlers piled up their awesome records against admitted inferior opposition — the so-called "five club second division." Against the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox, the Indians finished with 11-11 stand-offs on the year.

In the catching department, not much in the way of hitting is expected from Cleveland's Jim Hegan or New York's Wes Westrum. Both are fine defensive receivers. Rookies Ray Katt and Hal Naragon are the reserves for the Giants and Indians, respectively.

Unique Offense

However, Bovard saw some hope in his line play, which he termed "better than expected."

Money, meanwhile, will be attempting to equal the fine records turned in by Northern Michigan in the last two years. It had a 5-1-1 mark last season and 6-1 in 1952.

Money says he'll use his same offense which he calls "Split Confusion." It's a mixture of a lot of things. He'll get his chance to see if it still works Oct. 2, when Northern Michigan opens its season at home against Findlay College.

League commissioner Joe Griffin announced that neutral umpires will be assigned to handle the game.

Manistique coach Dick Bonifas has listed only one change in his starting lineup. Martin Holmberg, right halfback, earned a starting berth with his performance against Negaunee last week.

The Emeralds came through their loss to Negaunee with a minimum

BEES PLAY TONIGHT
The Gladstone and Manistique Bee teams will clash tonight at 8:30 at the Manistique gridiron.

Slated for starting action for the Emerald reserves are Dennis Boyd and Wayne Gunderman at ends, Paul Frankovich and Steve Schultz at tackles, Paul Wedell and Ed Charron at guards, Francis Bernier at center, Seb Ru-of bumps and bruises and are in peak physical condition.

Stress Pass Defense
In workouts this week Bonifas has paid particular attention to the Emeralds' pass defense, in view of Gladstone's good showing against Munising in that phase of the game last week. Emphasis was also placed on blocking. The Emeralds had difficulty opening holes in the big Negaunee line.

Left tackle Elroy Mersnick was selected game captain. The Manistique High School band will accompany the team and will perform at halftime.

West Coast Game Kicks Off College Grid Lid

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Southern California and Pittsburgh, two teams trying to relieve past glories, tangled in Los Angeles tonight in an inter-sectional game which whets the appetite for the first full-scale weekend of the college football season.

Every section of the country swings into the "Hip-Hip-Hooray" spirit with the crescendo apparently to be reached at South Bend, Ind., Saturday where Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, picked as the nation's best, make their debut against power-loaded Texas.

This battle introduced Notre Dame's new "Wonder Boy," 26-year-old Terry Brennan, as successor to Frank Leahy.

Trojans Get Nod

In tonight's Coast conflict, Southern Cal's Trojans race a 10-point edge over Red Dawson's Pitt Panthers, who are known to be big and tough but of questionable striking strength.

Other games tonight include Denver at Drake.

The NCAA's nationally-televized attraction of the week sends Michigan State's Rose Bowl champions against Iowa at Iowa City Saturday. This game hits the TV screens at 2:25 p. m. CST. It's a virtual tossup.

In the principal intersection conflicts, UCLA is a 20-point choice over Kansas at Lawrence, Ill.; the Big Ten favorite, is 10 points over Penn State at Champaign; Michigan is 14 over Washington at Seattle and Duke rates a touchdown over Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Army Has Setup

Army opens its campaign at West Point, a one-sided favorite over South Carolina, and Navy is picked to roll over William & Mary at Annapolis.

Memphis is scene of a double-header sending Tennessee against Mississippi State in the afternoon and Kentucky against Mississippi at night. Alabama attempts to bound back against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge. Georgia Tech is to clom to Florida and Georgia to Clemson.

In the Midwest, Ohio State is favored over Indiana, Northwestern over Iowa State, Minnesota over Nebraska, Purdue over Missouri and Oklahoma over Texas Christian. Arkansas is the pick over Tulsa and Oklahoma A&M over Texas A&M in the Southwest.

Other Far West games are: Oregon vs. Stanford; Washington State vs. College of the Pacific; Oregon State-Idaho, California-San Jose State, Utah-Arizona.

Better Weather Seen For Weekend

Clear skies Thursday brought the month's total of rainless days to five. The last one recorded in Escanaba was on the 19th. A light rain returned this afternoon, however.

After today the worry of rain or frost will be over until after the weekend, the weatherman assured this morning. He said that the temperature today would depend on the time that the wind shifted. If the onshore breeze changes to offshore early enough the temperature will get up into the high 60's. Otherwise it will be about 60 near the lake and in the low 70's inland. It will be cooler over the weekend.

Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and New England were all touched by frost today as the cool air mass moved to the Atlantic coast.

Bostwick will be taken into court later today but has not yet been charged, the district attorney added.

The company also donated to the fund timber rights on certain of 318,000 acres of timberland which Ford gave the fund in December, 1953. The timberlands are located in Baraga, Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Alger, Ontonagon and Houghton counties.

Riot Wipes Out Prison Industries

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (P)—Missouri prison officials today concentrated on rehabilitation problems growing out of the convict riot that virtually wiped out the state penitentiary industries.

The Hollywood Bowl rally was sponsored by the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Club of California, and the state's Democrats for Eisenhower organization.

Those three groups — Republicans, independents and dissident Democrats — represent the voting elements which contributed so much to Eisenhower's success in 1952.

Thomas E. Whitcotton, director of corrections, said he planned to make a thorough investigation before taking any disciplinary action.

Some prisoners claimed it resulted from pent-up resentment over food. Other prisoners and officials said they believed the riot was without purpose — instigated by unstable convicts and carried out by men who were victims of mass hysteria.

Killer, 16, Gets Lonia Life Term

DETROIT (P)—Life in the Lonia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane loomed today for 16-year-old Terrance DeMoss, admitted slayer of 4-year-old Marian Jo (Cookie) Zobrovic.

A fearful Recorder's Court jury of eight women and four men Thursday found the gangling youth innocent of the sadistic slaying by reason of insanity.

The jury deliberated more than 10 hours.

"That's what I wanted, that's what I hope for," the boy mumbled after Judge Gerald W. Groat ordered him committed to the Michigan institution.

Judge Groat urged that the boy be confined for life.

The body of the little girl was found slashed and bludgeoned in a garage near her home on Detroit's east side.

The nasturtium is a perennial but in cultivation it is treated as an annual.

LOS ANGELES (P)—President Eisenhower told the American Federation of Labor's convention today organized labor's views will receive "sympathetic consideration" from his administration.

The President, who received a warm reception from delegates, said that he knew there are differences between his views and organized labor's but the right to disagree was an American tradition.

Despite these differences, Eisenhower said, "the views of this convention will be studied and sympathetically considered" just as are the views of all segments of the American economy.

The President said that while he and the AFL leadership do disagree on some issues they do agree on many things.
